FOREWORD AND DEDICATION

"We are all blind until we see
That in the human plan
Nothing is worth the making if
If it does not make the man.
"Why build these cities glorious
If man unbuilded goes?
In vain we build the work, unless
The builder also grows."
—EDWIN MARKAM.

Through the ages the world has advanced through man's constant urge to build. Under his hands wonderful cities have arisen, time and again to be destroyed by disaster. Yet mankind has triumphed over catastrophe. Fighting to reconstruct, often more trying than original building, he has found that the ability to salvage from ruin is still the driving power of progress.

We chose the theme, "The Builders," to symbolize the building of our futures and to celebrate the reconstruction of our school. We are but continuing the process old as man, building on foundations laid in ages past—adding necessary ideals, aims, and accomplishments for the fashioning of a new society and better men and women. We know we shall not complete the pinnacles, for, like the legendary creators of Camelot, we are making that which is never built and yet is built forever.

Youth today is engaged in gathering his essential materials for building on sturdy foundations of health, knowledge, and spirit. To Constructive Youth, Builders of the World-to-Be, we dedicate this eighth volume of The Continental.

THANKS TO THE REINFORCEMENTS

Another year has gone by; another volume of Washington history and tradition has been compiled and recorded by your Continental Staff. Yet behind each great undertaking, each great achievement, there are a few people, who, although they have been instrumental in the success, still remain in the background and receive little or no applause. It is, therefore, now most fitting that we, the Continental Staff, publicly express our genuine thanks and sincere appreciation to those whose willing assistance and advice made the Builder issue of the Continental. So, at this appropriate time, we say, "Thanks to the Reinforcements."

Reconstruction Begins

A pick, a shovel, sturdy hands a steady foot. The ground is broken! R construction has started, and soon t sounds of pounding hammers, buzzi saws and concrete mixers will fill t air. From the crumbling earthquak shaken building will rise a strong, sa school ready for occupancy by ma who have never enjoyed the cool hal comfortable classrooms, auditorium cafeteria. Those who have worked the building and know its convenienc can well appreciate the beginning the new day.

BUILDERS

Let us so build, to serve by our good deed,
Each other, and descendants yet to live;
Whether it be a staunch material need,
A thing of splendor, or ideals to give
A nation or a world. Why are we striving,
If not to add to beauty? Youth is Hope
Toward happier future, nearer toward arriving
Within the eternal Builder's infinite scope.

Betty Barton, Winter '35.

SEALBEARERS

Sealbearers are those students who have been members of a local chapter of the California Scholarship Federation for at least two-thirds of their high school careers. They are made life members and presented with C. S. F. pins, and at graduation are given a special seal on their diplomas.

By working consistently during their high school days in order to maintain their high standard of scholarship, these students have built for themselves foundations of character which will follow them through life. They have built into their foundations qualities of perseverance and concentration, which form a strong base upon which mighty buildings will be raised.

EPHEBIANS

The highest tower to be reached by a senior in his high school construction is that of an Ephebian. He pledges himself to be a worthy builder, to make Los Angeles a better city by his intelligent deeds, his honesty, and high moral standards, the courage to act on them and the ability to influence others in bringing about a true democracy.

One out of every forty graduates is chosen by the faculty on the basis of scholarship, leadership and character.

Ephebians of winter 1935 were: Ebba Lind, Eugenie Schwedler, Bill Brown, Dick Mossberg, and Clifford Royston.

SENIOR SPONSORS

While our teachers have been our consulting engineers through our years at Washington, we may refer to our class advisors as our direct supervisors.

On our entrance they helped us in drafting our basic plans. Then, as we progressed, they helped us in making our final blue prints. Each step they guided with thoughtful supervision.

As we have gone forward in our construction, they have with helpful suggestion aided us in laying a foundation of strength. Each course has served to form a firmer structure, and each stone has been placed with security and confidence.

Just as good architects and superintendents are necessary for the successful construction of any building, it would have been impossible for us to reach the cornice of this our first structure without the supervision of our class advisers.

As we place the last stone in our preliminary building, we shall dedicate it gratefully to our direct supervisors.

SENIOR B'S

As the Builders put away their school tools for the more exact instruments required in life, the Senior B's are given the responsibility of directing the newly rebuilt school for the next term.

Under the capable leadership of Bob Jabour, president; Patricia Pringle, vice-president; Dorothy Nystrom, secretary; and Gordon Farrell, treasurer; and along with the opportunity of being the first class to use the buildings in two and one-half years, much should be accomplished by these coming A 12's.

Although the class of W'36 has already chosen its name, motto, and colors, they will not be divulged until Senior Recognition day. After this important event, the trust of the entire school will be placed in their hands. The younger students will look to them for guidance, and their success will be proportionate to the courage, will-power, foresight and wisdom of the entire class.

A9 Class of Winter '35

As the winter semester neared completion and students prepared to build another story in their career, the A9 class of Winter '35, being the last junior high class to graduate from Washington, left the portals of junior high and equipped themselves to continue upon their newly formed foundation.

Under the able leadership of Harold Tolin, class president, this class graduated, with the distinction of being the last A9 class to have graduation at Washington, and marking the beginning of a four-year high school at Washington which eliminated the junior high.

Dear Marie:

Well here I am talking to you again. This time its on my paper. You and I have done the same things (if you get what I mean) and are still really have a lot in common - I'm over hoping I really think you have it in you for something great and I do hope you get every thing you want in this cruel old world. Well here's luck, health, prosperity, and Best wishes are also yours coming years. Keep those goodlooking eyes shining bright and also that Personality!

Love -

Love, + luck, all you can consume of them.

Dode Maney

CONSULTING ENGINEERS

The finest buildings must have plans. They are erected by the co-operation of many different people. Our class of '35 were Builders even before they chose their name. On our first day in school, each one of us started to construct a building not only for himself, but for humanity. Every large constructive project has its Consulting Engineers. We have had ours constantly and patiently on the job. Through long years of study and research, our Consulting Engineers have trained themselves to assist us in our building. This is our last opportunity to express publicly our gratitude to these leaders and to thank them for their unbiased planning.

Each year with its new studies had helped to make our building just a little higher and a little stronger; each subject has finished or adorned a different section of this structure. Everything we have accomplished has been planned and supervised by our own Consulting Engineers, our teachers.

MR. THOMAS E. HUGHES

Best of luck to a darling girl
Willodene Wear
(an English Pal)

In a world so filled with obstructionists and destructionists, it is exceedingly refreshing to find a group of young people who, on their own initiative, chose the name "Builders" as a motif or motto best suited to express their interests and hopes in this final semester of their public school career. To lay new foundations or to build a better superstructure on the old is the task of youth.

"What we are to be, we are now becoming," the challenging statement of Cameron Beck, is the well chosen motto of the Senior A's. We like it because of its implications. It exemplifies the old philosophy that education is life, not merely a preparation for life. It also restates the old truth that real success is reached only by meeting tasks as they arise, step by step, in regular orderly progression. The motto, moreover, definitely implies that life-making is a continuous process, extending over our entire three score and ten years. Finally, both motif and maxim remind "Builders" anew that it takes only a summer season to grow a pumpkin, while it takes sixty centuries to produce a full-sized Sequoia Gigantica. Timber, toil, and time enter into the making of our most enduring temples.

Locally, the theme of the "Builders" is apropos of our conditions at Washington. After two years of incredible hardships occasioned by the earthquake, contractors are busily at work reconstructing the plant. Next September we shall be prepared to welcome to Washington's earthquake-proof buildings not only our patient, loyal students of record, but also many new ones.

THOMAS E. HUGHES,
Principal.

In this year of difficult economic and social condi tions, a new spirit seems to be growing up in Amer ica—a spirit that is intolerant of old abuses and a the same time eager for changed conditions tha will make possible a larger life for us all.

We hear much of the necessity for building a better world—a world in which it will be easier fo the average man to achieve economic well-bein and social security. How important it is that th people who are to dwell in this new world shall b
the right kind of people!

Let us all strive to grow daily in strength of char acter, in intellectual power, in kindliness and cour tesy, in social tolerance.

KATE L. GRIDLEY,
Girls' Vice-Principal.

The arrival at a milestone of progress is always a momentous occasion for the traveler. In life th progress of each of us is largely dependent upo himself. However, some must work very hard t do that which is not difficult for others. Our great est joy is the satisfaction that comes from a knowl edge of sincere efforts which have resulted i creditable achievements. May this year bring t you its rich reward and may it provide a sturd foundation for the building of the future.

APPRENTICE ENGINEERS

Washington is indeed fortunate in having such a progressive faculty. This faculty believes in student government and entrusts to students a great deal of power over their own affairs. The student body has reciprocated by the election of officers who have tried to work hand in hand with their chief engineers.

The Student Body Presidents, the Cabinets, the Girls' and Boys' Leagues, the Girls' Advisory Board, the Girls' and Boys' Self-Government Committees, the Judges, and the Student Body Managers are all the Apprentice Engineers. Always on the job assisting the Consulting Engineers are these student administrative groups. These Apprentice Engineers have been learning to guide themselves as well as others. From them the student body has learned to respect itself and its representatives, and all of them have worked for one purpose—the improvement of their school and themselves.

Student Body Presidents

It was with hope for the future but with regret at leaving Washington that I graduated from high school. I am sure that the entire class of W'35 feels the same. I think it was one of the finest classes that have ever graduated from Washington, and I hope its ideals will be carried on by those who are left.

For a while it seemed that Washington had lost some of the school spirit which has always predominated here, but it was not lost, and only needed reviving to return as strong as before.

Washington's achievements in scholarship and athletics are of the finest. Without the ideals which Washington has no school can endure.

Sincerely yours,

EDDIE GROSS.

Student Body President W'34-'35

Throughout my terms at Washington, I have enjoyed nothing so much as serving you in the capacity of student body president. It is my only regret that I must depart without further serving you.

During my term of office I have recognized the Washington spirit that has carried our student body organization through these depressing times. In spite of these times we have established a unity of spirit, encouraged school loyalty, and have governed ourselves with admirable ability.

I wish to extend my sincere thanks to the faculty and student body for their co-operation during this semester. With this spirit Washington will thunder through the coming years to achieve a greater glory than ever before.

Sincerely yours,

MEL LYON.

CABINET OF WINTER 1934-35

The members of the cabinet are elected by popular vote to represent the students in the management of school affairs. The cabinet of W'35 sponsored many important activities, among them the gaining of the necessary signatures to retain the colonnade, and an athletic show, the proceeds of which were given to the senior class for their gift, a new public address system.

Cabinet officers for the fall were: Eddie Gross, president; Maxine Mangel, Girls' vice-president; Marlow Hodge, Boys' vice-president; Margaret Mette, Girls' League president; Harry Hahne, Boys' League president; Patricia Pringle, Girls' Self-Government president; George Buchanan, Boys' Self-Government president; Rose Croucher, secretary; Clifford Royston, Scholarship chairman; Frank Doser, student treasurer; Barbara Wirthman, manager of publications; Tom Miyadi, manager of athletics.

CABINET OF SUMMER 1935

Immediately after election the Cabinet of S'35 took up the problems left them by the preceding cabinet. They fulfilled their respective duties at all times with willingness and enthusiasm. They sponsored color day and sought always to keep up the morale of the student body under untoward conditions.

The officers for this semester are: Mel Lyons, president; Barbara Wirthman, Girls' vice-president; Roy Myers, Boys' vice-president; Eunice Sperbeck, Girls' League president; Bob Jabour, Boys' League president; Margaret Mette, Girls' Self-Government president; Cloyd Prittie, Boys' Self-Government president; Phyllis Marsh, secretary; Patricia Pringle, Scholarship chairman; Irma Winn, student treasurer; Phil Heist, manager of publications; Norman Molyneaux, manager of athletics.

GIRLS' LEAGUE

Every girl on entering Washington automatically becomes a member of the Girls' League. Each girls' home room is entitled to a representative, and through them various committees are chosen to carry out the projects during the term.

At Christmas the Girls' League delivers baskets of food to those in need. The organization also contributes generously to the Needlework Guild which provides hundreds of needy men, women, and children with new clothing.

The officers for the fall semester consisted of Margaret Mette, president; Lettie Woodhouse, vice-president; Aileen Kelly, secretary; Dorothy Nystrom, treasurer. For the spring semester, they were succeeded by Eunice Sperbeck, president; Margaret Fraim, vice-president; Dorothy Nystrom, secretary; and Pat Dyer, treasurer. Miss Harriett Holeman is sponsor.

BOYS' LEAGUE

To foster a spirit of co-operation and better understanding between faculty and students is the purpose of the Boys' League. Each boys' homeroom chooses a representative. After each meeting the proceedings are reported by the representatives to their respective homerooms.

The Boys' League sponsors entertainment and competitive sports between the various boys' homerooms. It also assists the Needlework Guild by collecting money and delivering the Christmas baskets.

Officers for the fall semester were: Harry Hahne, president; Bob Jabour, vice-president; Allan Marsh, secretary-treasurer. Serving during the spring semester are Bob Jabour, president; Carl Igo, vice-president; Jack Gorby, secretary-treasurer. Mr. David Ridderhof is the faculty sponsor.

JUNIOR AND SENIOR GIRLS' ADVISORY BOARD

The Senior Girls' Advisory Board under the sponsorship of Miss Sadie Sherman, is composed of girls chosen by Miss Kate L. Gridley.

The aim of this board is to promote a higher standard of personal appearance among the girls of Washington.

The Junior Board has the same function and works among girls in B homerooms. Mrs. Madeleine Bronzan is the Junior sponsor.

Meetings are held twice a week with the girls taking turns presiding as judges.

Girls' Self-Government

For the purpose of administering a purely democratic government by the students, the self-government representatives are chosen. The requirement is an average grade of C and a merit record of ninety or above. While on duty, self-government officers are expected to see that no students are in the halls or on the grounds without passes. To hold a cabinet office, a term of serving on self-government duty is necessary.

The winter self-government was headed by Patricia Pringle and the spring by Margaret Mette.

BOYS' SELF-GOVERNMENT

The Boys' Self-Government is divided into four working groups, known as the Hall and Grounds committee, the traffic and auto patrol, and the service squad. The activities of these various groups, however, are completely co-ordinated through the general supervision of the Boys' Self-Government Council to which all of the suborganizations send representatives.

The Hall and Grounds Committee is headed by Cloyde Prittie, the Boys' Self-Government president. The duties of this division are to regulate traffic in halls, maintain order and quiet in halls and on grounds, keep halls and grounds clear during time classes are in session, assist in keeping halls and grounds clean, greet visitors, and prevent students from leaving grounds without permission.

JUDGES

The judges, appointed by the vice-principals, are members of the Cabinet without voting power and preside over the merit board. They hear charges of misconduct, and with impartiality and understanding, determine the penalties.

During the fall semester Ebba Lind, Dick Mossberg, Sigrid Shield, and Bill Brown held court. Presiding during the spring semester are Billie Fowles, Josephine Giampaolo, Jack Naye, and Richard McLellan. Mrs. Frances Ross and Mr. Arthur Andresen are faculty advisors of the Board.

THE STUDENT BODY ORGANIZATION

The student body store, under the leadership of Mr. William L. Garst, takes care of all of the finances of the school. The students have charge of the store as in a regular office, handling money, writing receipts, selling merchandise, and collecting and paying out school debts.

The student body office is under the leadership of Irma Winn, school treasurer. Assisting her in the student body office are: Jack Beeler, Bertha Boardman, Weltha Bradley, Violet Brooks, Geraldine Carter, Juliette Cohan, Marion Darby, David Defrees, David Edelman, Mary Dinius, Irene Englestad, Rose Marie Geyer, Geraldine Glanzman, Gloria Grondona, Art Johnson, Betty Jones, Melba Kischell, Katherine Mitchell, Wanda Rooten, Mina Shepard, Pauline Stran, Lurline Uller, Wilma Von Dietz, Thelma Williams, Mildred Wilson, Maurice Vernon, June Garcia, Ethel Godlove, and Edna Sutton.

CONSTRUCTION

Construction is a complexity of many activities, some so remote as to seem unrelated. In far-away forests trees are felled and sent by sled and raft to mills which make them into boards for paneling; in distant mines ore is wrenched from the ground and carried to blazing furnaces to be smelted into steel; sand is melted into glass, baked into bricks, or mixed into mortar—and all these things must be done before the rearing of a building may begin.

Construction commences. Again there is a variety of activities. Materials have been assembled by rail, water, motor. Architects have drawn their plans. Skeletons of steel are erected and clothed with sturdy concrete and brick. Electricians thread the building with nerves of copper wire, and decorators add beauty with color and ornament. Who are Builders? Who are not Builders?

CONTINENTAL ARTISTS

A great deal of the success of the Continental is in the hands of the Continental artists. Their talent, inspiration, and ingenuity are indispensable. Too much credit cannot be given them. Viva Roberts is the art editor, and Vaughn Root, the assistant artist. The cartoons are the work of Mynard Taylor, and the layouts were planned by Willard Wells.

STAGE ART

With a bucket of paint and a handful of brushes, the stage art class transforms mere boards into realistic settings for the plays and operettas. Under the supervision of Mrs. Genevieve Ahrens the class designs the scenery and learns the practical side of stage art.

DRAMATICS

"In Xanadu did Kubla Khan
A stately pleasure dome decree."
—Coleridge.

The dramatics class adds to the pleasure of school life by contributing many peformances throughout the school year. Mrs. Helen Dale Walker, drama coach, has given us, this year an unusual number of productions. They included two three-act plays and three one-act plays, besides many short skits and entertainments given for the various clubs and aud calls.

The three-act play of the fall semester was "Three-Cornered Moon," a hilarious comedy of a hectic family. The depression together with an irresponsible mother throws the family into financial chaos. Their trials and tribulations are altogether amusing.

The cast was as follows:

Elizabeth Rimplegar - - Marjorie Boaz
Donald - - - - - - Kenneth Tanner
Dr. Stevens - - - - - - Eddie Jones
Kenneth Rimplegar - Millard Fillmore
Ed Rimplegar - - - Douglas Gamble
Douglas Rimplegar - Carleton Sloane / Dick Bahme
Mrs. Rimplegar - - Marcella Comer / Jeanne Haggart
Kitty - - - - - - Margaret Fraim / Dawn Garner
Jenny - - - - - - - - Iris McConkey

The major production of the Spring semester was "Growing Pains."

George and Terry McIntyre, excellent examples of "this younger generation," jog painfully through adolescence with the neighborhood kids. Their parents, poor wretches, hover helplessly in the background.

The cast:

Professor McIntyre - Kenneth Tanner
Mrs. McIntyre - - - Kathleen Stevens
George McIntyre - - - - - Bob Luce
Terry McIntyre - - - - Lurline Uller
Prudence Darling - - - Evelyn Johnson
Brian - - - - - - - - - - Jack Naye / Jack Credelle

SHAKESPEAREAN CONTEST

Shakespeare, the father of English literature, lives always in the hearts of who love his plays. To those who participate in the Shakespearean Contes characters are real, flesh-and-blood people who live again.

On April 6, the contest was held at Occidental College. Washington was r

SPELLING BEE

"Hemorrhage," "appurtenance" and other words of equal trickiness were hurled at the Washington Spelling Team which competed against Jordan April 22, in the Radio Spelling Bee over KFAC. Washington's contestants were Betty Jean Jones, Jean Lockhart, Jeanne Haggart and Winifred Garner with Ann Weinberg as alternate. The team misspelled only six words, and Jean Lockhart emerged victorious with a perfect score. Mr. R. H. Keamer Walter was coach.

OTIS SKINNER CUP CONTEST

The Otis Skinner Cup Contest was organized and developed by Miss Jane Butt, who presented the cup to the school. The contest is an incentive to inspire students to better speech and purer diction. Otis Skinner, to whom the contest is dedicated, is an American actor outstandingly famed for his perfect diction. The winter contest winners were: Paul McCalib, first place; Jean Kee, second.

SPEECH ARTS

The George Washington Forensic Forum, newly organized during the spring semester, is endeavoring to further intelligent debating between the high schools of the city. On May 10 a debate was held with Torrance High School on the subject: Resolved: That the jury system should be abolished. Miss Grace Mason coaches the debaters. Kenneth Martin is president of the Forum.

"For the Love of Books"

Book Weeks may come and Book Weeks may go, but to George Washington High School never will it come with as enriching a significance as it did this school year. It was on a Thursday in November that Mr. Ernest Dawson made his never-to-be-forgotten visit to our school, bringing with him the genesis of the collection with which he is endowing our students.

The initial group in the Collection consisted of forty-eight books, including one incunable; 6 manuscript leaves; twenty-two early printed leaves; and seven prints.

The next best thing about this Dawson Collection is that it is an ever growing stream of knowledge and appreciation.

Under Mr. Dawson's sponsorship we have conducted a Dawson Contest each semester. There were nineteen entrants the first semester, first prize of $10.00 going to Jeanne Haggart; the two second prizes of books to Doris Clegg and LaVoyne Wolfe. These prizes were awarded by Mr. Dawson at a tea given by him at his Shop for the entire group. This semester there are ninety-five entrants, each of whom is now in the process of earning his own prize of an awareness of beauty and a love of books.

THE MIKADO

Caroling melodiously of the difficulties of Ko-Ko, Lord High Executioner, to find anyone upon whom to execute sentence, and of the obstacles in the path of true love of Nanki Poo and Yum Yum, the Senior Glee Clubs, accompanied by the Senior Orchestra, presented as the spring operetta "The Mikado," by Gilbert and Sullivan.

The land of cherry blossoms and the rising sun was the setting of this charming and tuneful satire on the ways of justice in Titipu.

Slant-eyed maidens and youths fluttered gay fans and danced mincing steps through several performances in the Big Tent. Mrs. Olga Sutherland, general director, was assisted in the production by the entire music department.

VOCATIONAL ELECTRIC CLASS

The purpose of this class is to further the interest and skill in electricity. The course is open to boys who are particularly interested in electricity and who have shown special aptitude and adaptability for it. The course requires four years to complete, and a portion of the expenses are paid by the Federal Government. The boys also aid and assist the school by supplying it with various electrical equipment. The instructor of the class is Mr. John Weiss.

PUBLIC ADDRESS CREW

To the public address crew must go our gratitude for the success of programs on the bleachers, for without them programs there would be impossible. Though it is they who make it possible for everyone to hear distinctly, they receive very little recognition. The captain of the crew is Roger Holston, and the sponsor is Mr. John Weiss.

AIR CADETS

To further aviation's progress is the purpose of this national organization of boys. Contests and building models have kept the boys busy this season. Officers are: Ralph Marzullo, president; Stanley Hall, vice - president; Charles Kirkwood, secretary; and Eugene Hall, treasurer; Mr. Paul W. Hairgrove, sponsor.

VOCATIONAL AERONAUTICS

Washington High School is honored by being the only school in the city giving a full course in aeronautics. The course is a two-year one and is pursued by each enrolled student for three hours a day.

The objective of the course is to develop skill and knowledge in the field of aeronautics so that the student can secure and hold a job as an advanced apprentice in this field. According to requirements, the student must be at least sixteen years of age and must measure up to specific physical and scholastic requirements.

Part of the maintenance of the course comes from the Federal Government which pays two-thirds of the expenses.

All work is organized and carried out to correspond with standard trade practice, special attention being given to workmanship, finish, and the development of production speed. Instruction must involve actual production jobs. Mr. Paul Hairgrove is the instructor.

AIR CO-EDS

The purpose of the Air Co-eds is to give the girls a fundamental knowledge of aeronautics. This organization was created in October, 1933, as the sister club to the Air Cadets.

The meetings are held during Home Room period each Wednesday. An annual initiation for new members is held at the home of the sponsor and social events are indulged in occasionally to vary the program of study and instruction which the girls receive. The girls have the regulation dark blue sweaters with attractive emblems.

The winter cabinet was: Clara Winburn, commander; Kathleen Campbell, secretary - treasurer; Jean Wilson, lieutenant-commander; Janet Barrow, sergeant-at-arms.

The summer cabinet is: Dorothy Larson, commander; Janet Barrow, lieutenant - commander; Kathleen Campbell, secretary-treasurer; Virginia Cross, sergeant-at-arms. Mrs. Helen Clarke is the sponsor.

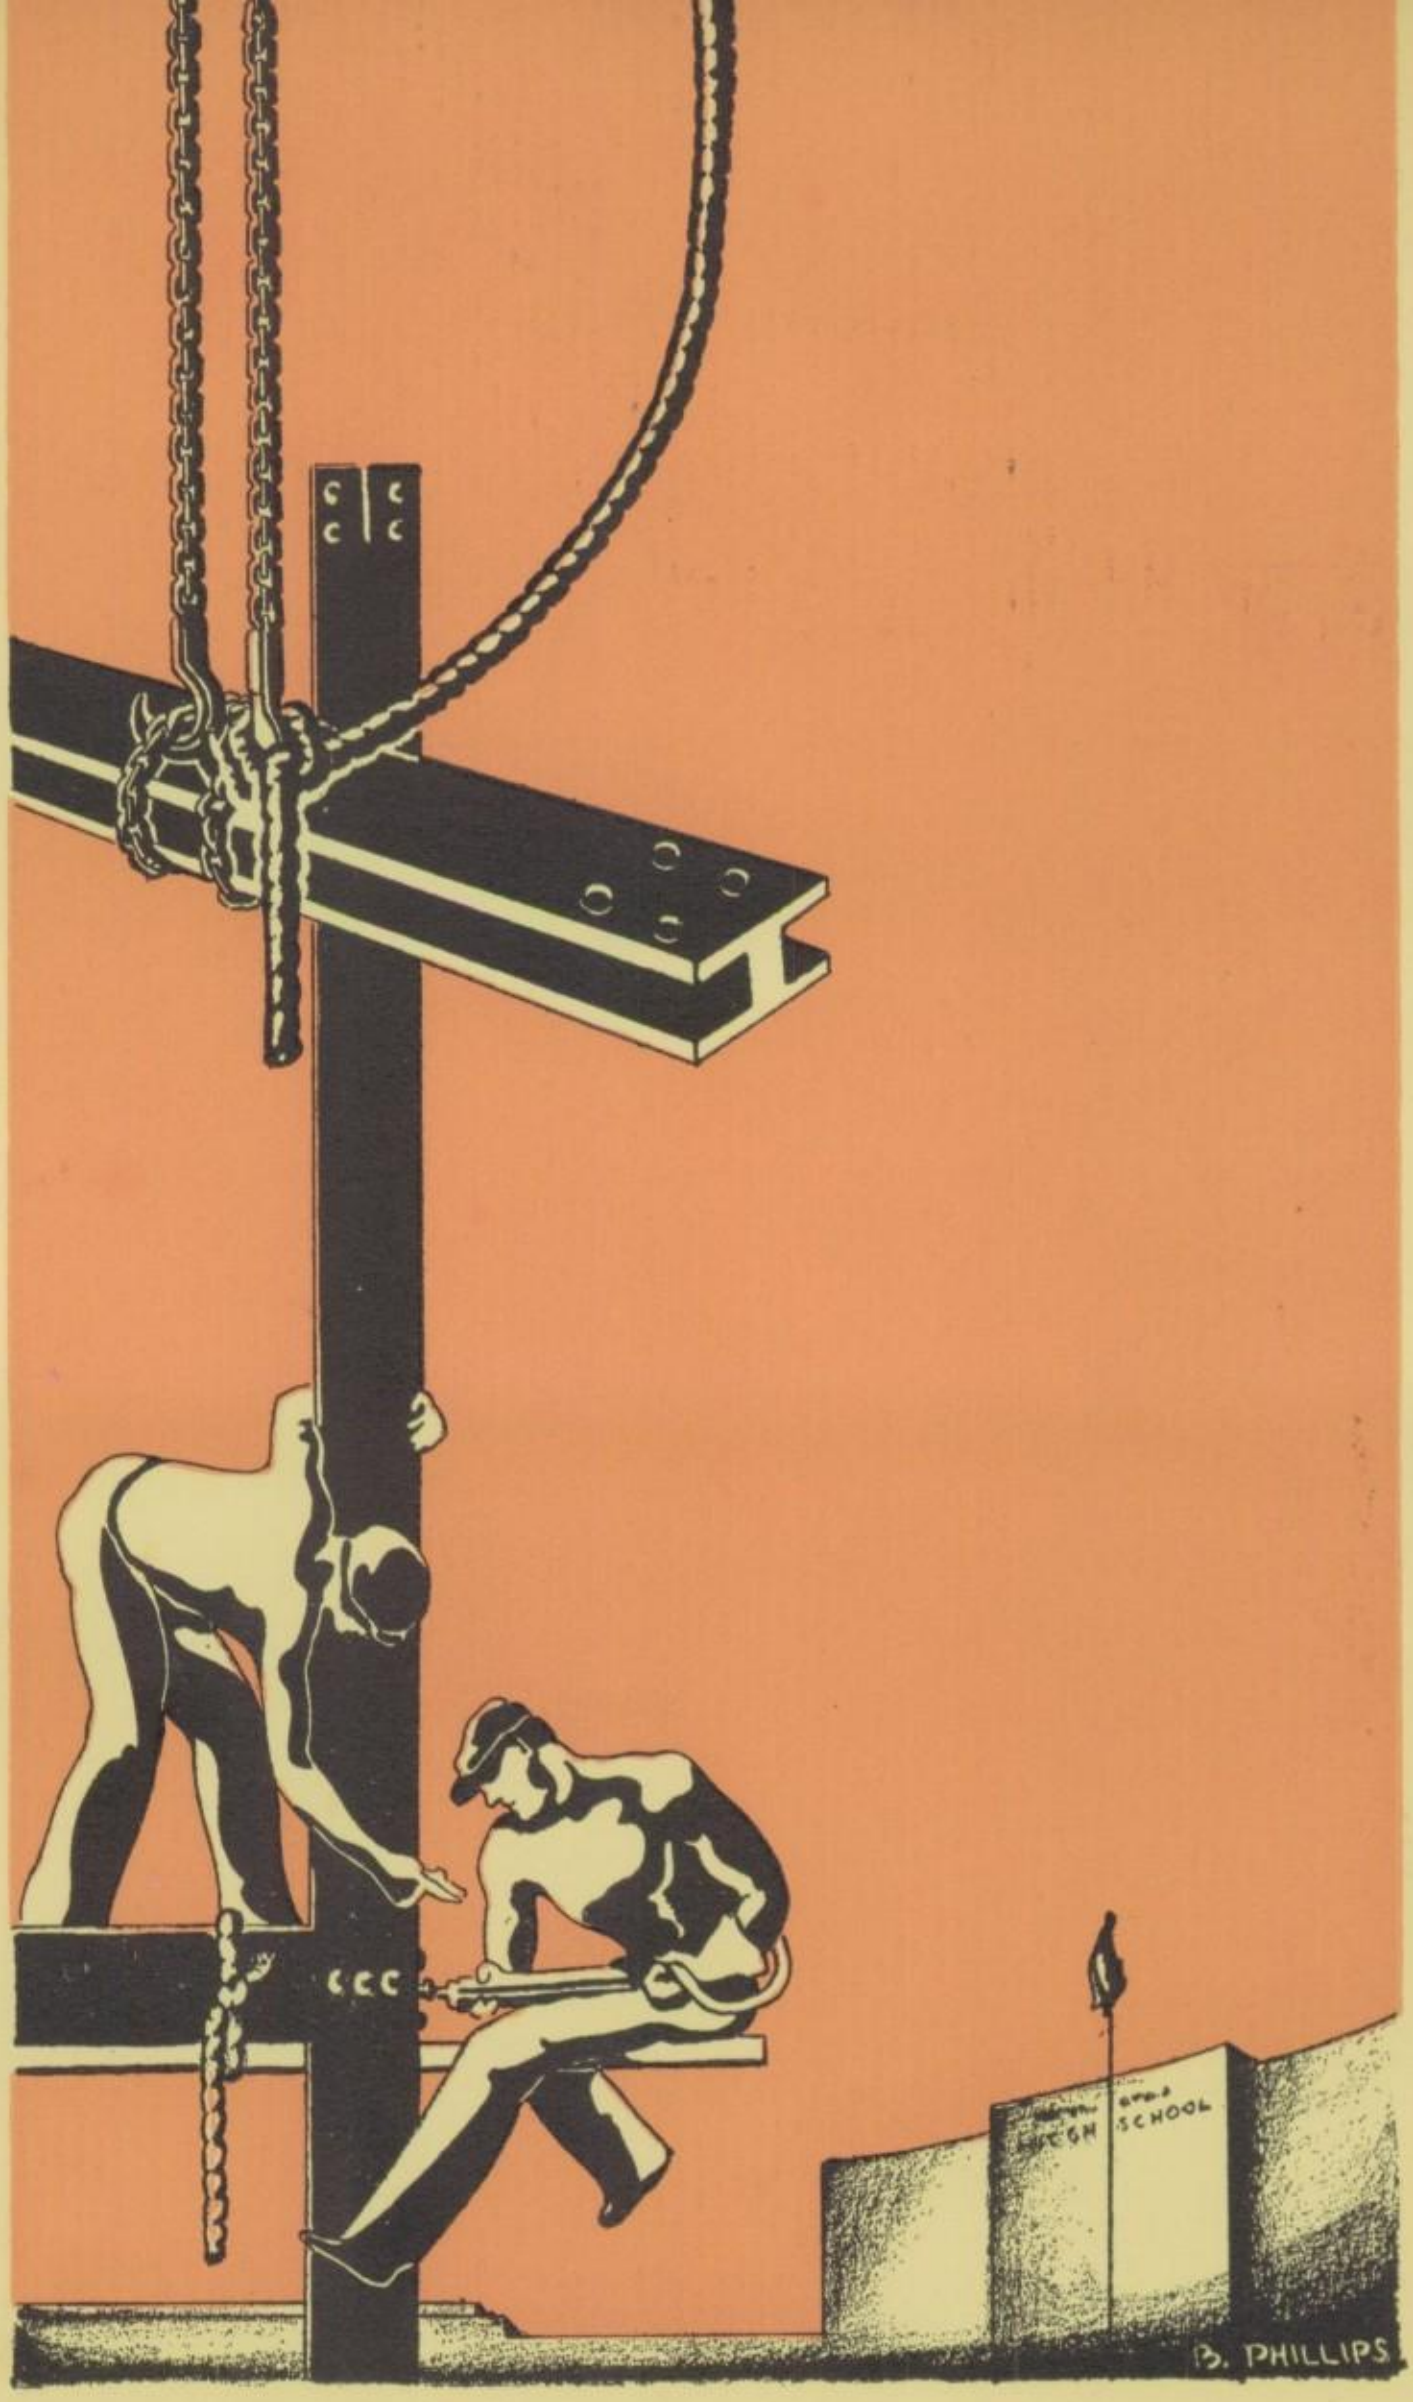
SAND AND STEEL



B. PHILLIPS

SAND AND STEEL

The materials which are combined to form a massive building are allied to the power of men who build to make the structure strong and unyielding. These stalwarts must be fit to meet any situation, must put forth every effort to make their construction durable. Their vitality, quick-wittedness, and co-operative spirit are all essential to the success of their undertakings.

Impressive buildings are fashioned of clean mortar, true steel, and sturdy bricks. Anologous with this composition are sinewy muscles, tenacious nerves of steel, and fortitude to endure, no matter what the onslaughts of time and weather.

Competitive sports, vigorous, energetic contests of strength combine to make builders strong and forceful, to develop clean minds and healthy bodies.

The Drum and Bugle Corps and the Band

When football season comes around and the air tingles with the excitement of "The Big Game," two organizations add to the festivity of the occasion: The Drum and Bugle Corps and the Band. With their inspiriting music and colorful drills they contribute much to the enjoyment of the games.

The two groups performed at the Manual Arts game at that school. For the Jefferson and Polytechnic games, played on Hughes Field, they were assisted in the between-half entertainments by Mr. Arthur E. Bishop's homeroom boys.

A group of trumpeteers from the Band provided the greeting to sunrise at the Easter Sunrise services of the churches of the Southwest.

Both organizations are sponsored by Mr. Alexander J. Smith.

SPORTS

The Winter '34-'35 semester opened a new era of athletics for Washington. The entire system of Leagues was reorganized, and the Generals were placed in the midst of such able competitors as Huntington Park, Polytechnic, Jefferson, Manual Arts and Fremont. This group was known as the Southern League. The remaining city schools were divided into Northern, Western, Pacific, Marine and San Fernando Valley Leagues.

The schedules were also revised. At the end of the League season, interlocking games were played according to the standings. This arrangement allowed each school three post-season games.

INTERLOCKING GAMES

Washington 26 — Marshall 0

This game was entirely Washington's, as the score shows. Every man in a General uniform saw action. Washington marched up and down the field, piling yards upon yards and stopping only long enough to chalk up another tally.

Washington 12 — Los Angeles 7

Fresh from the tonic of a crushing victory over Marshall, the General eleven defeated Los Angeles in a very closely contested game. Just before the final gun sounded, L. A. was menacing our goal line, but Lady Luck favored the Generals, and the end of the game prevented our opponents' scoring.

Washington 20 — Bell 7

In this, the final game of the year, Washington displayed terrific offensive power. The Generals completed pass after pass, and one power drive followed another. The Bell aggregation scored late in the first quarter. Reader of Bell and Denny Buccola proved outstanding as they closed their high school careers in a blaze of glory.

The end of the League football season found Washington squad in the same place in which it started, only a little the worse for wear.

It did, however, win all of the inter-league post-season games by decisive margins.

LEAGUE GAMES

Manual Arts 13 — Washington 0

Defeating Washington proved a mere stepping-stone for a powerful Artisan eleven, who romped over every opponent to capture championship laurels. The Generals fought a hard but defensive game throughout.

Jefferson 19 — Washington 13

Although emerging on the short end of the score, Washington came closer to winning this than any other game. They led the Democrats 13-12 until a pass completed into the end zone for Jefferson gave that school the lead in the final minutes of play.

Fremont 6 — Washington 0

Sheer fight and determination are the explanation of Fremont's victory. The Pathfinders were entirely outclassed. In the first half, Washington totaled eight first downs to none for Fremont. The lone tally was scored by Fremont in the third quarter. Harry Lieb, flashy Washington center, was in the midst of most of the action.

Polytechnic 6 — Washington 0

The Generals were brilliant even in defeat. Jimmy Jones, one of the city's four best backfield men, was kept bottled up for almost an entire game. Poly's points resulted from a pass in the third quarter. Jones of Poly, and Buccola and Lieb of Washington were outstanding. Poly missed their conversion for the first time that season.

RICHARD REINER
TED VARALAY
DOUGLAS HALLEY
JAMES DEMPSEY

FRED RETTBERG
RUSSEL BLACK
PAUL SCHWARTZER
EUGENE SPENCER

Heres to a gal
I would like to know with love
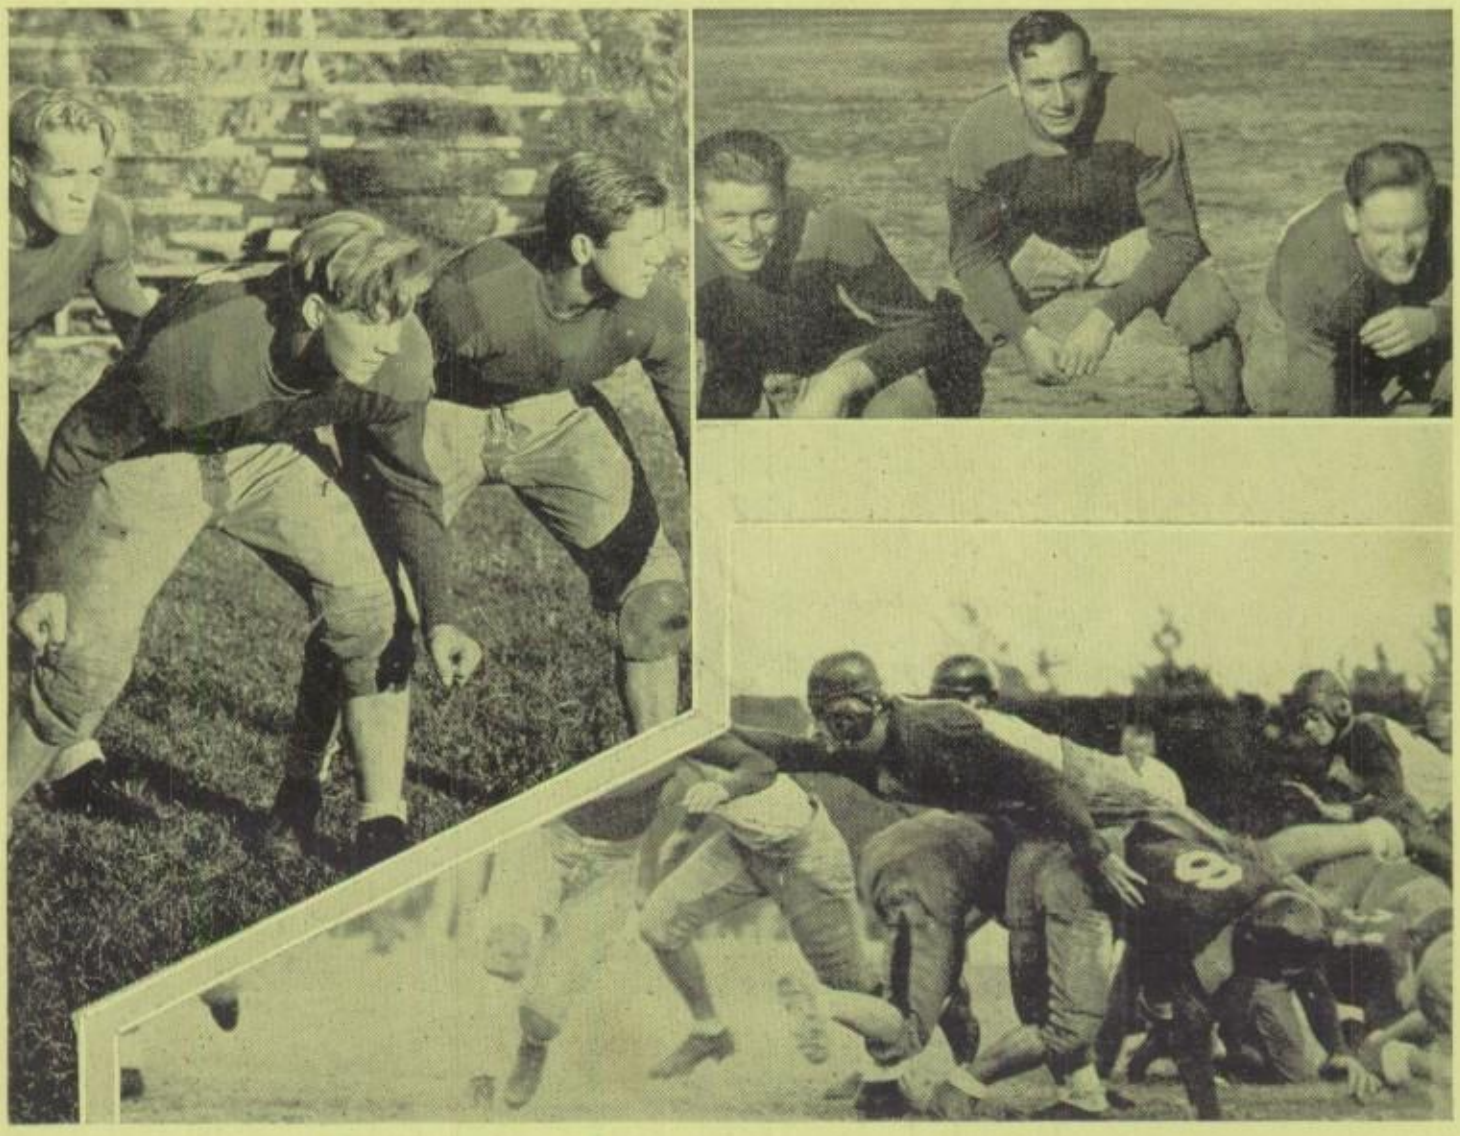
Affectionately Jennie Dempsey

RICHARD REINER, end, showed up very well this season at his wing position. He alternated with James Dempsey. Richard is lost to the squad through graduation. TED VARALAY, center, very solidly built, proved to be a stalwart defensive man. This is Ted's first year as second string center and he will return next year. DOUGLOS HALLEY, guard, was powerful and fast and able to open up a hole. He played second string, but could always be counted upon when needed. Douglas graduates with the Builders. JAMES DEMPSEY, end, and captain-elect for next years, was one of the hardest fighters on the squad. He had a fast getaway and was quick to get down and under punts. This was his first year of real competition. EUGENE SPENCER, fullback, was injured in the first league game and unable to play from then on. He was an excellent punter and his educated toe will be missed. This was his last year.

PAUL SCHWARTZER, tackle, has all the qualities of a good man for his position. He is big and is an almost immovable barrier on defense. He deserves credit for throwing opponents for many yards' loss. Paul will return. RUSSELL BLACK, fullback, because of Buccola's consistency, did not see much action. He did, however, play well when he did get in the game. Russell is also graduating. FRED RETTBERG, guard, is heavily built, but carries his weight with amazing speed. He was always in the right place when needed. Fred will return.



RICHARD McLELLAN
DICK MOSSBERG
AL LYONS

BILL HOGLUND
DENNY BUCCOLA
MILT LOVE

RICHARD McLELLAN, quarterback, played a ripping, slashing season. His litheness and quick thinking were a valuable asset to the squad. This was Richard's first varsity season. He was elevated from the lightweight squad and will return next year. DICK MOSSBERG, halfback, played many good games. He developed into Washington's number one punter. Dick was also seen on the receiving end of many passes. This was his second and last season. AL LYONS, quarterback, was Washington's passing sensation. He could throw a ball any place from anywhere and this keen sense of accuracy was greatly appreciated. Al will be back with the squad. MILT LOVE, end, did not start the season because of an injury, but he certainly made up for lost time by excellent offensive and defensive playing. Milt finished his second year when he graduated with the Vikings. CAPTAIN DENNY BUCCOLA, fullback, was more colorful than ever, in this his third year. He was shifted to fullback and in that berth proved a plunging, slashing sensation in every game. Denny is a fine defensive man, and he gained a position on the All-Southern League eleven. He will certainly be missed next fall. BILL HOGLUND, guard, although fairly light for his position, showed excellent ability to play his berth at all times. Graduation prevents Bill's return.

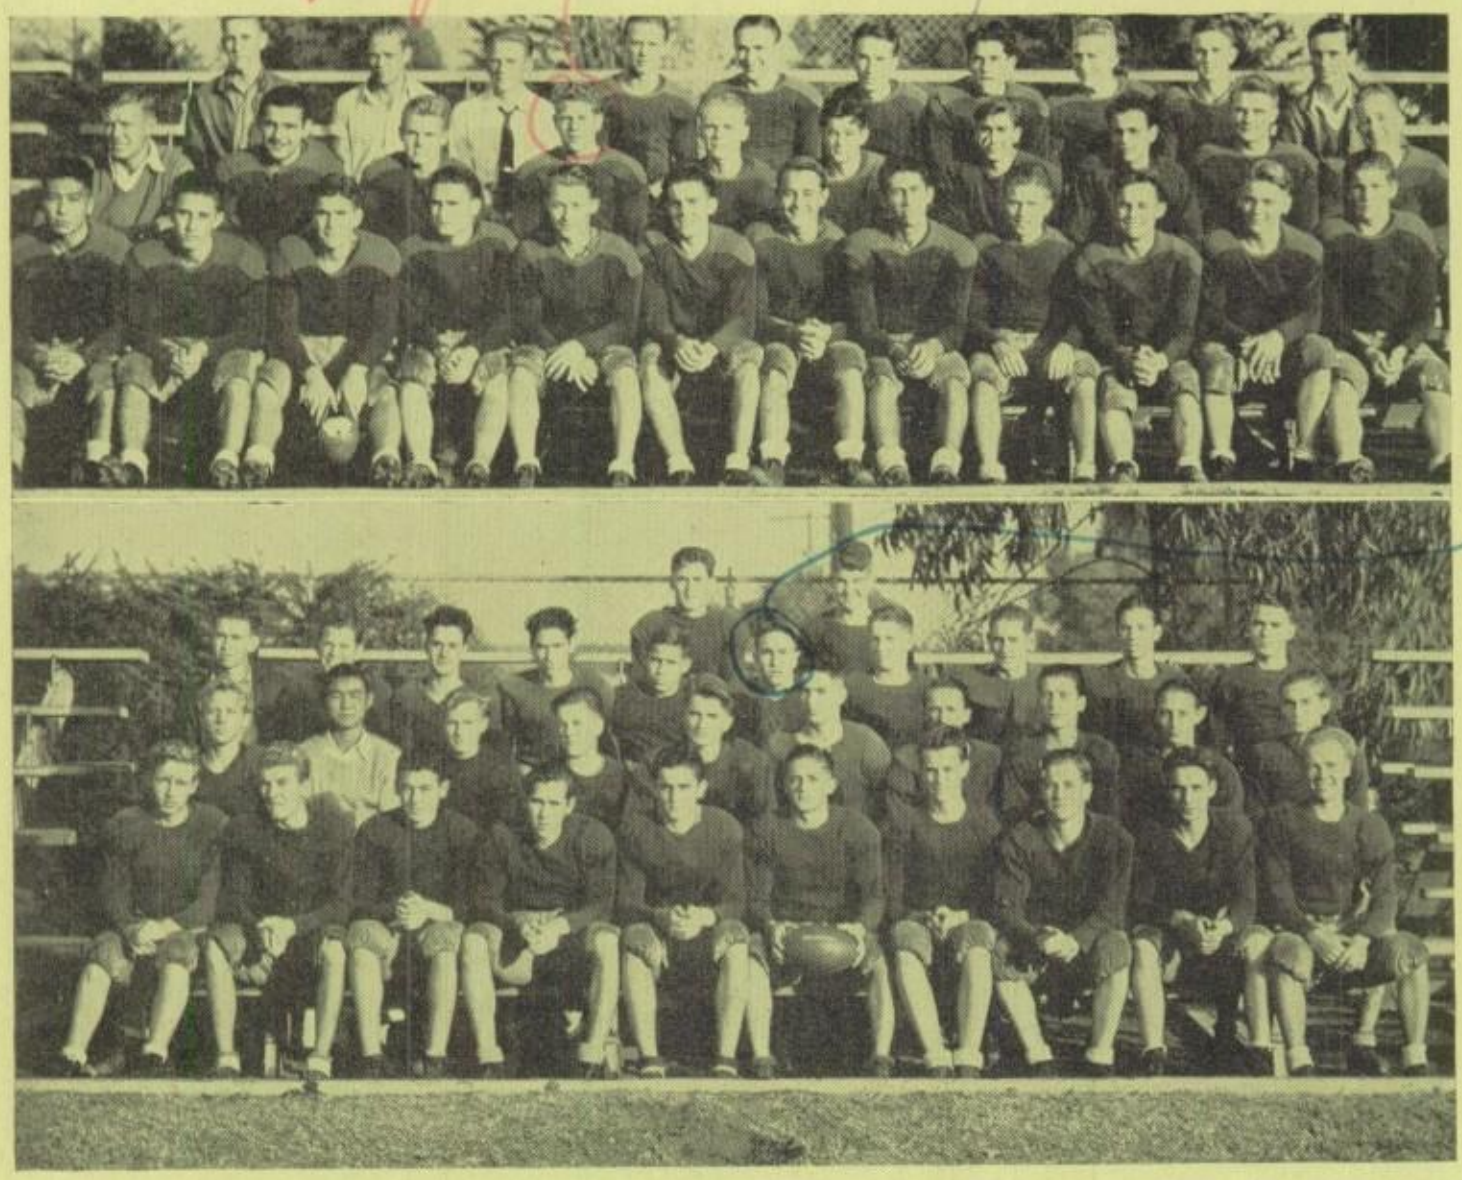
BRUCE SMITH
HARRY LIEB
JACK SELF

JIMMY GIVENS
HILL HAWKES
FRANCIS BRENNAN

BRUCE SMITH, guard, was a big, powerful player. He was a fine defense for the center of the line. This was his first year of competition. HARRY LIEB, center, was probably the most promising player on the team. He was in the opponents' backfield almost always. Harry came up from the lightweights, and is small for his position, but he makes up for size by action. He will again be seen next Fall. JACK SELF, tackle, is another heavy, powerful player. He played his position very well, using his bulk and brawn for the best. Jack has another year of competition. FRANCIS BRENNAN, halfback, used his height and speed to an advantage in getting clear to receive passes. He was also a very good blocker. Francis is also graduating. BILL HAWKES, halfback, saw his second year of varsity competition. He was small, but played very well in his position. This was Bill's last year. JIMMY GIVENS, quarterback, played his second year also, but because of difficulties did not see much action. Jimmy will not return. MATT ROSSOMAN, guard, is also one of the squad's heavies. He could always be counted on to play a bang-up game. Matt's return to the team will be welcomed next season.



3RD ROW: Eaton, Capt. Joerdon, Wolford, Berko, Unger, D. Collins, Ruddell, Farrell, Williams, Mgr. LIGHTWEIGHT FOOTBALL

The Washington Lightweight football team was fairly successful in its season, and won half of its games. Seven returning lettermen helped to make this one of the best lightweight teams Washington has ever turned out.

In the Manual game the Generals had a bad case of fumblitis, and the Toilers won 13 to 7. The next game against Jefferson found a rejuvenated team on the field, and at the end of the fracas Washington had 19 to Jefferson's 0. In the third league game, the one against Fremont, we were too anxious. Although outclassed throughout the game, Fremont held Washington to a scoreless tie. Stimulated by previous defeat, Washington travelled to Polytechnic to conquer the Parrots 20 to 0.

Washington lost the first inter-league game to Marshall 6 to 0, but played one of the finest games in lightweight history by defeating Venice 6 to 2. This was the first defeat the Oarsmen had suffered from the Generals, and the first time they were scored upon in three seasons.

GOOF SQUAD

This squad was formed in order to develop material for the lightweight and varsity football teams. Bill Watters assisted Coach David Ridderhof in coaching this team. Davies was manager.

The outstanding men of the squad were: Capt. Charles Jones, Art Thrailkil, Bob Sparks, Rolly Samuelson, Norman Timbs, Ted Shield, Jack Lowe and Harry Rosfeld. Letters are not awarded the members of this team.

2ND ROW: Coach Carmichael, Carroll, O'Hanlon, Bateman, Capt. Johnston, Dowd, Myers.
1ST ROW: Sharp, Olds, Gapper.

VARSITY BASKETBALL

Southern League competition proved a little too much for Coach Eddie Carmichael's General hoopsters. Although they were a fast-stepping, hard-fighting lot, they lacked teamwork and were defeated in all of the league games. Nevertheless, each opponent said that it played a very stiff game aganist Washington.

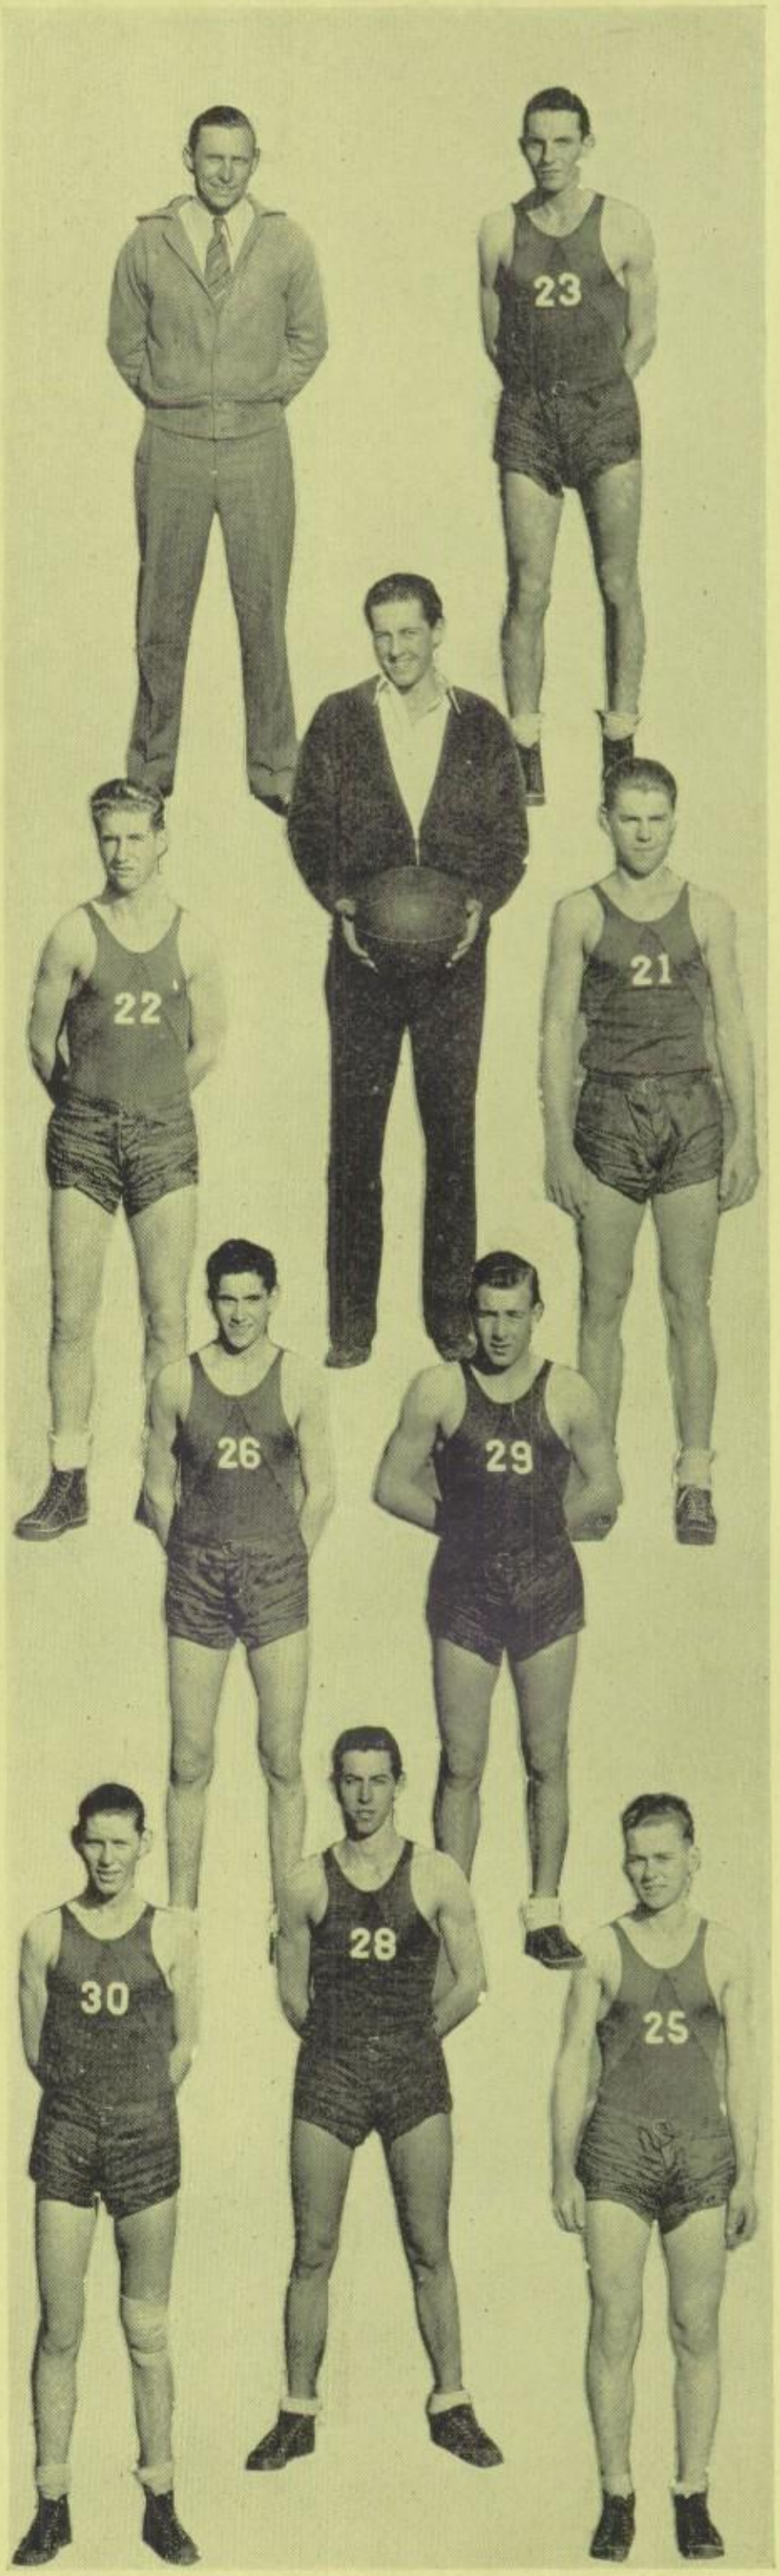
The scores of the league games were: Manual Arts 27, Washington 16; Jefferson 40, Washington 20; Huntington Park 39, Washington 14; Fremont 47, Washington 18; Polytechnic 38, Washington 19.

Although the team did not fare well in league competition, they showed up well in their practise games. In the game with St. Agnes, which was held in the Manchester gymnasium, the Generals defeated their opponents by a decisive margin.

Next season the school plans to build an outdoor court. The squads will probably improve by practising on a hardwood floor instead of on the tennis court.

The squad's outstanding players were: Captain Dean Johnston, Paul Dowd, Harold Bateman, Art Gapper and Al Pierson.

BARON SHARP, guard, was one of the ablest men on the squad. His passing and dribbling were invaluable, and the team will surely miss him next season. MANAGER DON CROWTHER was an able, competent manager, always willing to help the squad in any way possible. RICHARD CARROLL, center, played with precision that was almost unequalled. The man Dick followed rarely scored. This was his last season. CAPTAIN DEAN JOHNSTON, guard, was without a doubt the most consistent man on Washington's squad. His floorwork is excellent, and many times he was the outstanding player in the game. He also accounted for many of Washington's points. Dean gained mention on an All-Southern League team. Next season will complete three years of varsity competition for him. PAUL DOWD, center, played many good games at this position. He was a good jumper and an useful all-around man. RICHARD OLDS, forward, was one who could always be depended upon to help the team when needed. He always worked hard. Richard will not be back next season. ROY MYERS, guard, is a tall, fast, keen man. He alternated at center position and played a fine game at all times. ARTHUR GAPPER, forward, was a fast, alert, and ever-ready player. He was an excellent passer. This was Art's first varsity year, and he will not return. AL PIERSON, guard, played his second and last year with the squad. He is tall, and used his height advantageously to block opponents' passes and baskets. HAROLD BATEMAN, forward, played almost all of all the games. His consistent playing made him very valuable to the squad on both offensive and defensive work.



2ND ROW: Mgr. Lyon, Faulkner, Morita, Weselich, Lowenthal, Irwin, Beck. 1ST ROW: Lloyd, Johns, Wise, E. Ford, Edelman, G. Ford, assistant coach.

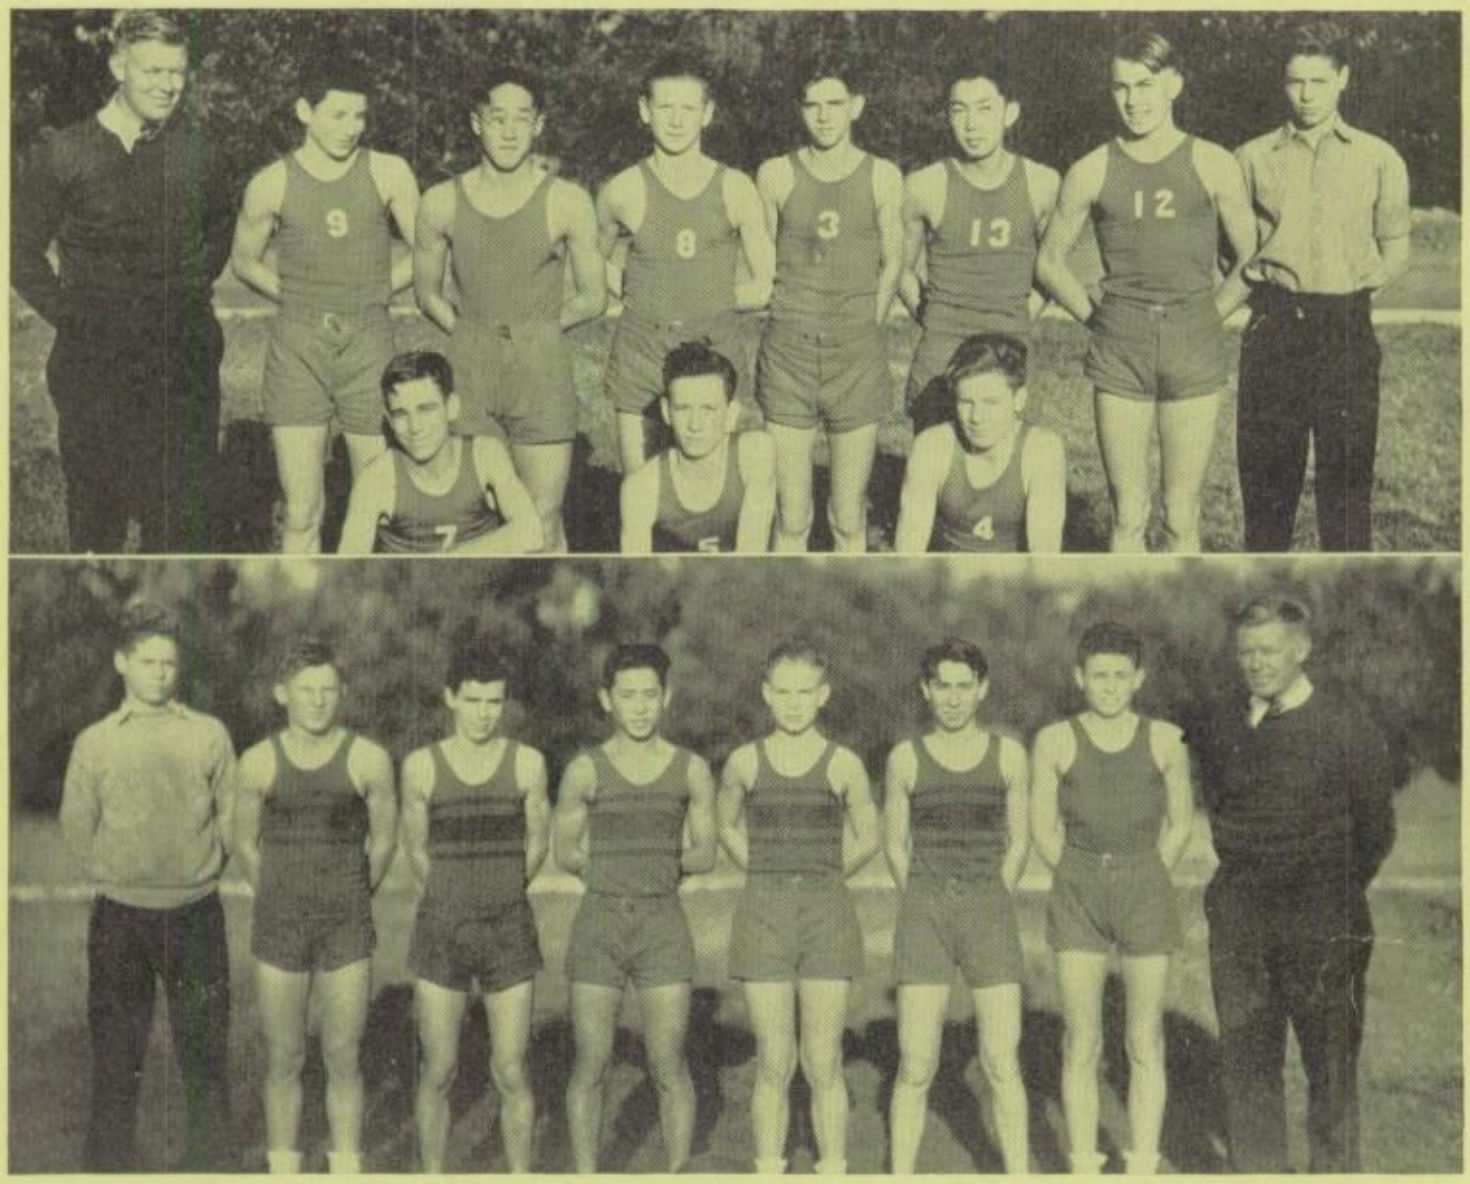
LIGHTWEIGHT BASKETBALL

Last season Washington had one of the best B Basketball teams in some time. This squad, which was coached by Mr. D. E. Carmichael and assisted by Gerald Ford, a former student, developed team-work which was superior to that of their opponents. All of the members of the first team were experienced, and the end of the league season found the Washington team in second place.

The squad had a five-game season, each game being a double-header, with the Varsity game immediately afterward.

The Manual Arts game was the first of the season, and a hard fighting Toiler team defeated the General babes 24 to 18. A determined squad then defeated Jefferson 32 to 16. The next game was against Fremont, and was the hardest fought game of all. The score was tied at the end of the game and the teams were forced to play overtime. After one minute of the play the Generals make a basket and the final score was 18 to 16 in favor of Washington. Then they defeated Huntington Park 26 to 22. The championship playoff was against Polytechnic, and Poly won 32 to 20.

Lettermen are: Capt. Bill Wise, Earl Ford, Duane Beck, Mitsuru Mosita, Bennie Johns, Jack Lloyd, George Faulkner, Leon Lowenthal, Dave Edelman and Manager Aubrey Lyn.



2ND ROW: Coach Ridderhof, Wyss, Tadokora, Priddy, Lockhart, Maruyama, McEachron, Mgr. Covalt.
IST ROW: Mantle, Singleton, Meiklejohn.
Mgr. Covalt, Malone, Osgood, Taniguchi, Amundson, Teatch, Sullivan, Coach Ridderhof.

CLASS C BASKETBALL

This year Washington's class C Basketball team did not fare as well as expected. Although Coach David Ridderhof did have a scrappy unit, they finished their season in the cellar position.

The team was led by co-captains Singleton and Meiklejohn and high-point man Lockhart.

Those earning letters were Bob Singleton, Bob Meiklejohn, Charles Lockhart, George Maruyama, Gordon McEachron, Bob Mantle, Ray Weiss, Jerry Priddy, and Johnny Tadakora.

CLASS D BASKETBALL

The class D Basketball team, also coached by Mr. David Ridderhof, was another General squad which was stricken by the shroud of bad luck that hovered over the Washington athletic teams. This team was unfortunate enough to have but six players on the entire squad. It finished in last place, too.

Bud Malone, Tom Osgood, and Earl Amundsen were the outstanding men.

Lettermen are: Malone, Osgood, Amundsen, Mitchio Tanaguchi, Ray Teatch, and Gale Sullivan.

CROSS COUNTRY

The cross country squad, although having won six consecutive championships in the Western and Marine leagues, discovered that it could not rest upon its laurels, and in the Southern League finals it placed second to Manual Arts.

The season's schedule was broken up because the only teams in the Southern League were Fremont, Polytechnic, Manual Arts, and Washington.

In the League finals, Kenny LeBarts placed second and Warren Marvin, third. Again in the city meet the boys did not fare well.

Lettermen are Captain Kenny LeBarts, Warren Marvin, William Chorley, Johnny Asomoto, Jimmy Mason, Tommy Luccas, Jerry Michaud and Manager Henry Furushima.

Luck to a swell girl — Tommy Lucas.

2ND ROW: Coach Heilman, Marvin, Joram, Hollingsworth, Kinzer, Horino, Mason. 1ST ROW: J. Morgan, Michaud, Chorley, DeMarco, Asamoto, C. Morgan, Le Barts.

GYM TEAM

Coach Carmichael's Gym Team ended the season by placing third in the City Finals and second in the Southern League Finals.

In the dual meets the Gymnasts lost but one meet; that they dropped to the city champions, Manual Arts, by a score of 87½ to 61½. Against their rivals from Polytechnic High School the Generals came through to win 77 to 72 victory.

Results of the meets are as follows:

LEAGUE MEETS

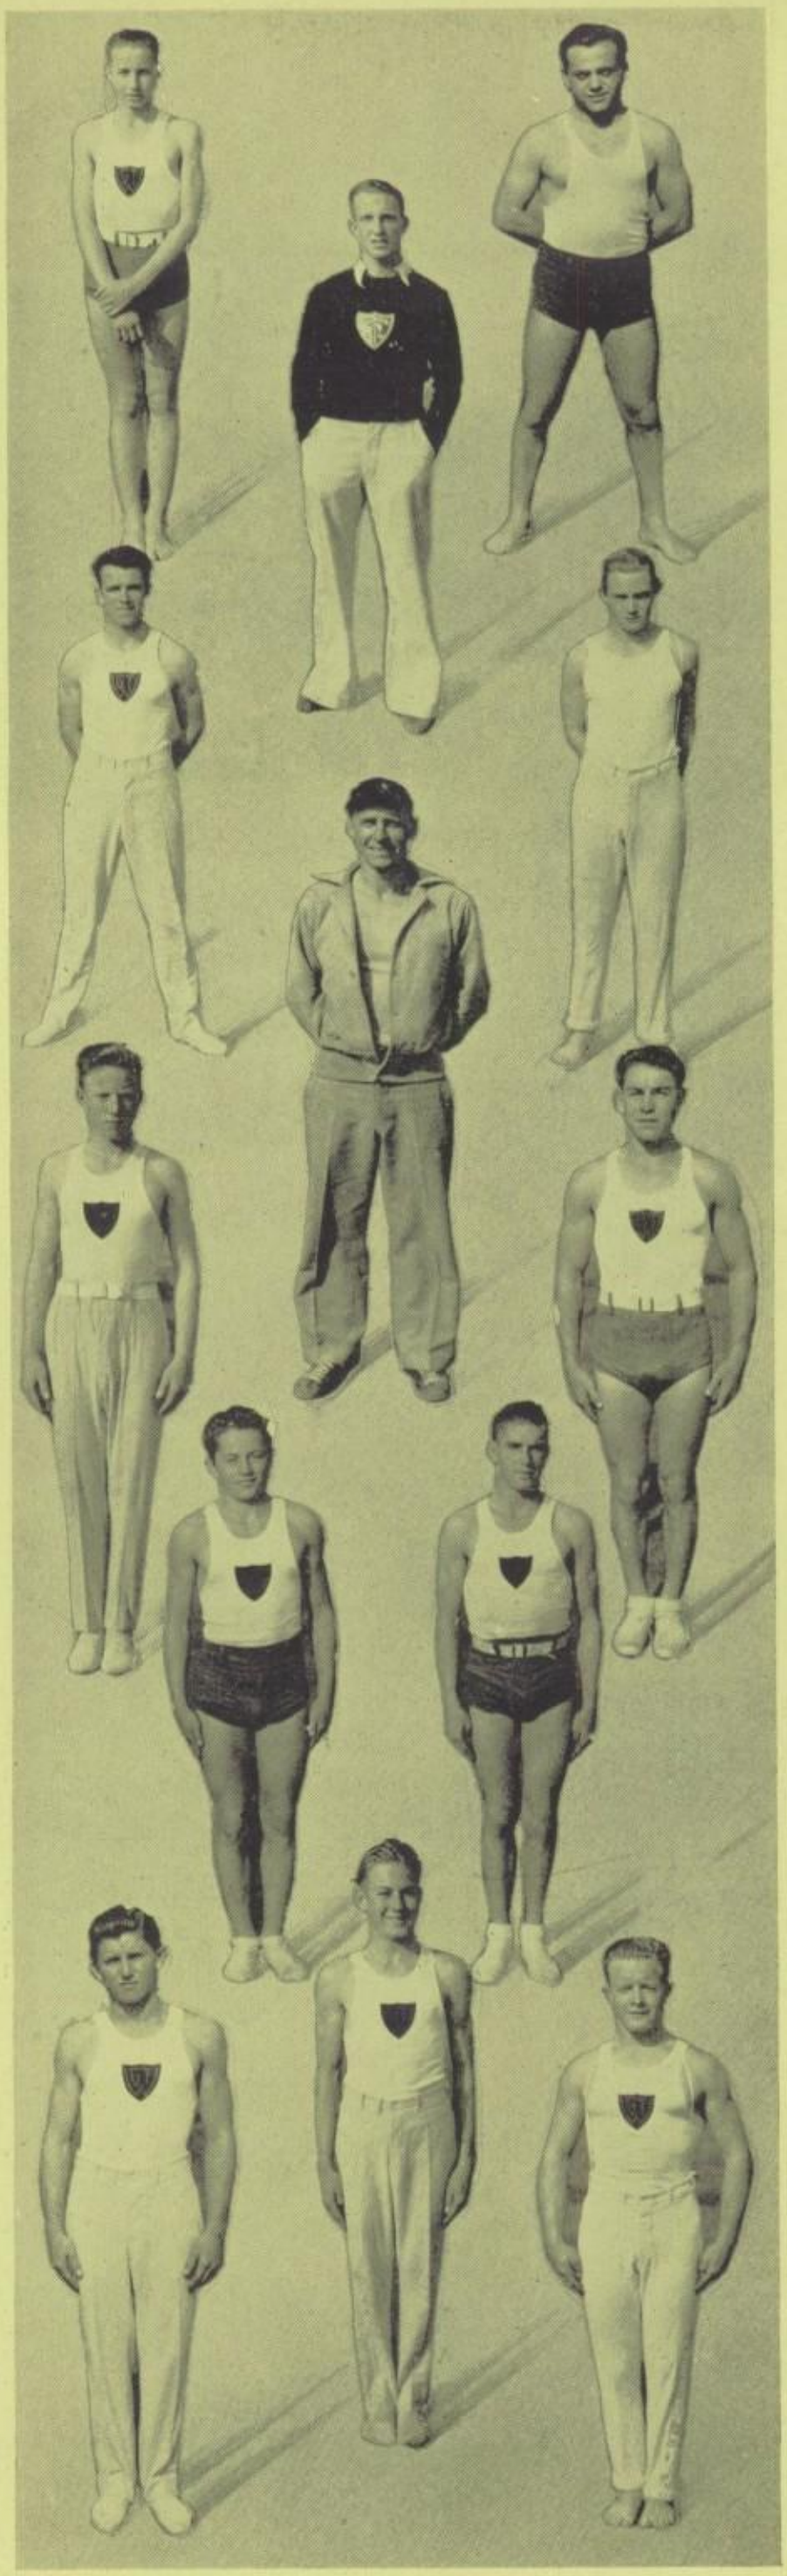
	Opponents	Washington
Fremont	45½	98½
Manual Arts	87½	61½
Polytechnic	72	77

SOUTHERN LEAGUE FINALS

Manual Arts	59
Washington	47
Polytechnic	37
Fremont	7

LOS ANGELES CITY FINALS

Manual Arts	50
Polytechnic	28½
Washington	28½
Eagle Rock	10
Hollywood	8



HENRY KOETTERS placed second in Southern League finals in club swinging. He showed remarkable improvement and is expected to be outstanding club man next year. JOE FRIEND, a very hard worker, could always be depended on for a place in the clubs. He placed fifth in Southern league finals. Joe also graduates with the Builders. JIMMY FULLERTON managed the team in great style. Jim also graduates with the Builders. DAVE MOODIE, Captain and high scorer of the team, placed first in the city finals on side horse and fifth in the all-around. Dave graduates with the Builders with two stripes. BOB MARTIN, competing in the rope climb, improved very much this year. Bob should place high in city meet next year. JOHN THORNTON, competing in his first and last year with the team, developed into a good man in clubs and free exercise. He placed second in City Final club swinging. CHUCK ROBINSON, tenth grader, developed into a very good ring man. He should be best man in all-around event next year. Chuck placed fifth in rings in Southern league finals. BILL KRUEGER, eleventh grade tumbler and free exercise man, shows promise in apparatus work for next year. ED BARKER, tumbler, shows good promise in the future. Ed is a tenth grader. MONTY BONNELL won his letter in the horizontal bar and free exercise event. He should be one of the best men in the city next year on horizontal bar. DUANE BECK pulled a big surprise by tying Captain Moodie in Southern league finals on the side horse; he took third in City Finals in the same event. Duane graduates this semester. CARL IGO was an outstanding performer on the rings. Carl graduates as a two-year letterman. CLIFF BYERS, best horizontal bar performer in city, also placed fifth in city finals in rope climb and rings.

2ND ROW: Mgr. Tadakora, Phillips, Wadstrup, Peebles, Lowenthal, Feinner.
1ST ROW: Winkle, Goodenough, Joram, Listmann, McEachron, Simmons.

Furushima, Carlson, Kenkel, Burgess, Turner, Naye, Dodge.

TENNIS

The Washington Tennis Team, under the guidance of Coach David Ridderhof, was built around three returning lettermen, and showed some improvement over last year's team. In their practice matches, the Generals defeated Inglewood, 22-3. They then lost to Los Angeles by a score of 3-22. Next, Washington lost to Venice, 9-16. In their last practice match the General netmen defeated Bell, 21-4.

The league matches told a different story. Washington met with three defeats and one victory. Manual Arts vanquished the Generals, 15-10. In the second league match Washington overwhelmed Jefferson, 25-0. Next Washington lost to Huntington Park, 7-18, and to Fremont, 12-13.

Composing this year's team are:

George Peebles, first singles; Lewis Winkle, second singles; Louis Joram, third singles; Bill Phillips, fourth singles; Irving Feiner, first doubles; Howard Listman, first doubles; Bob Wadstrup, second doubles; Gordon McEachron, second doubles; John Tadokoro, manager.

GOLF TEAM

Washington's Golf Team, sponsored and coached by Mr. Joseph E. Burgess, showed much improvement over last year's squad.

Only one-half of the matches had been played when the Continental went to press, but Washington had shown prospects of a good team.

Their first League encounter found the Generals successful by defeating Polytechnic four and one-half to one-half. Huntington Park was the next to suffer defeat at the hands of the Generals by the same score, but Manual Arts defeated Washington three and one-half to one and one-half.

The players in their ranking positions are: John Kenkel, Henry Furushima, Carl Carlson, Lester Turner, Jack Naye, and Ross Dodge.

VARSITY BASEBALL

The varsity baseball team, under the leadership of Coach Kenny Cox, enjoyed a fairly successful season.

When the season opened, Mr. Cox was greeted by two returning lettermen, Captain Roy Myers and Harry Rosfeld, and seventy aspirants. After a series of cuts, a squad of seventeen remained through the season.

Early in the semester it was hoped that there would be a Southern League for baseball.

When the squads were organized there were only three schools (Washington, Fremont, and Huntington Park) who had teams. Fremont and Washington entered the Western League, and Huntington Park went to the Northern League.

A second team was formed under the direction of Mr. Arthur G. Andresen. This team played the same schools that the first team competed against. They will receive B letters.

ROY PARTEE, catcher, played his first year on the varsity. He proved to be an outstanding fielder as well as a batter. Roy has two more years on the squad. MANAGER THOMAS BOSLEY showed much ability in managing the baseball team. This is Thomas' last year with the team. AL LYONS, pitcher, shared honors with Bill Watters. Al won three league games and lost two. This is his first year, and he still has another. CHESTER BULLOCK, second base, alternated with Mel Veach until another player's injury allowed him to play continuously. He was noted for two-base hits. Chester will not return. RICHARD WARFIELD, fielder, is a sophomore, and played very good ball. He was a consistent batter until he broke his thumb. Richard returns next season. ROBERT JABOUR, fielder, experienced his first year on the squad. He alternated in the field with Bryan Stephens. BRYANT STEPHENS, fielder, just up from junior high school played his first season. MELVIN VEACH, third base, alternated with Bullock in this his second year on the squad. JERRY PRIDDY, second base, as another of Washington's tenth-graders. Jerry competed in four league games, after which he broke his ankle and was out for the remainder of the season. WILLIAM WATTERS, pitcher, proved to be the hero of many games. This was his second and last season on the team. HARRY ROSFELD, fielder, held down an outfield position for the second year. Harry was one of the best all-around players on the team. He still has another year. CAPTAIN ROY MYERS, first base, ended his third year on the diamond. Roy worked hard and enthusiastically for the team. Roy graduates in S'35. JACK LLOYD, shortstop, played his second year, and he has a third. Jack covered his position with great consistency. EDWARD MORRIS, catcher, alternated with Partee and also played in the field. This was Edward's first year, and he has two more.

BOYS' LEAGUE TOURNAMENTS

The Boys' League of Washington again successfully sponsored their annual tournaments, which include inter-homeroom baseball, horseshoes, and wrestling.

Homeroom A22 won the school baseball championship.

LeRoy McDevitt and Charles Kirkwood were the winners of the horseshoe doubles tourney, and the wrestling contest was still in progress when the Continental went to press.

VARSITY TRACK

Washington's first Southern League track team proved to be better than expected. Track Coach Lester Heilman and Field Coach Edwin Carmichael worked together in making a formidable squad. Although only two league meets were finished when the Continental went to press, the Generals showed promise of placing fairly high in the Souther League.

Two practice meets found Washington with a record of .500 Gardena suffered a severe beating at the hands of a powerful team, and Beverly Hills defeated the Generals in a close meet which recorded many fast times.

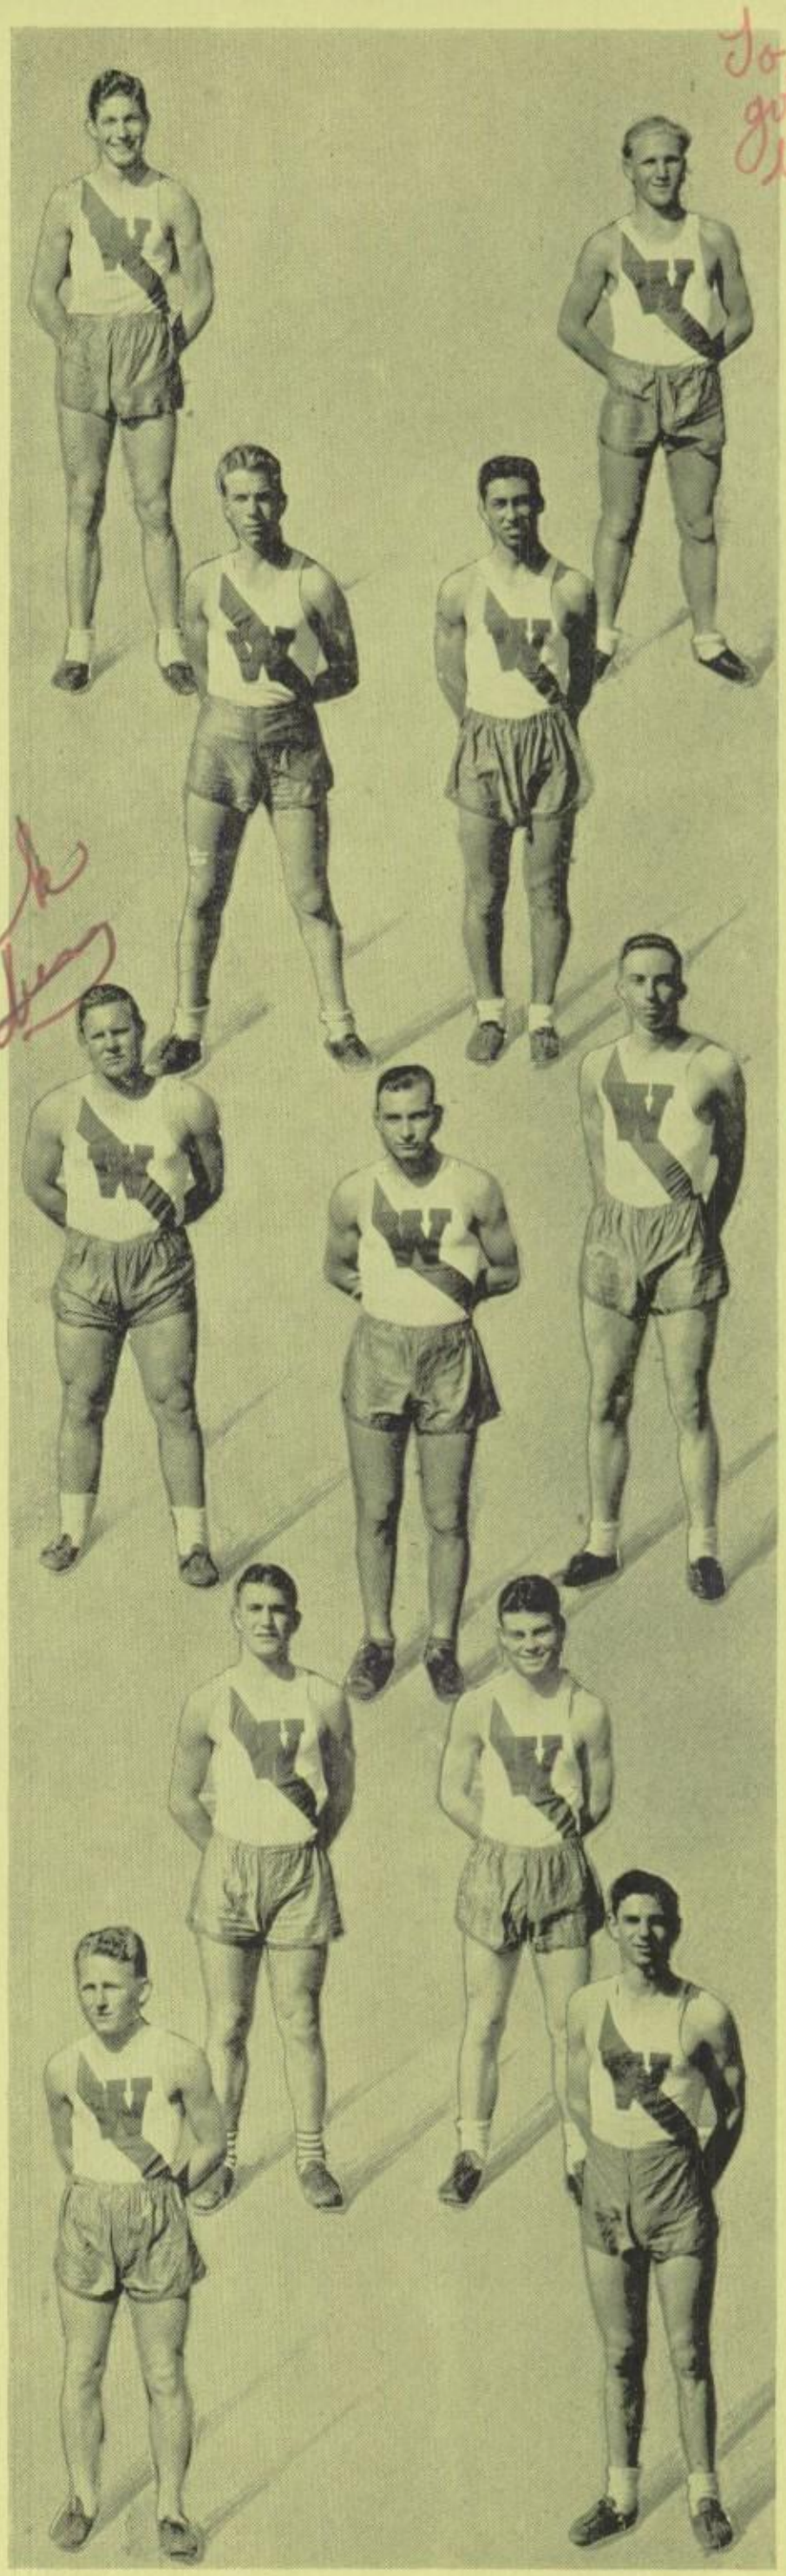
The first League meet was against Jefferson, which had the strongest team in the city. The Generals were defeated seventy-one and one-quarter to thirty-one and three-quarters. The second meet against Polytechnic told a different story, however. Poly was on the short end of a sixty-eight and two-thirds to thirty-five and one-third score. In this meet, Norman Molyneaux broke the school 220 low hurdle record. The time was twenty-six seconds flat.

In the L. A. City Relays, Washington's 440-yard shuttle relay team also broke the meet record. The new time of 55.7 seconds was made by Gordon Farrell, Clarence Collins, Ralph Wood, and Jim Mahoney.

Washington's tracksters have yet to meet Manual Arts, Fremont, and Huntington Park.

DICK BAHME experienced his first year in the 880. He shows promise of becoming a very good runner. KENNETH LEBARTS did not run his usual mile this season. Instead he competed in the 880 and took most first places. This was Kenny's second year. JACK SHEA was one of the quartet of General weight men. He could always be counted on for a second or third. Jack has another year. WILLIAM SMITH was another shot putter. Although inexperienced, he is expected to show up well next year. FRED RETTBERG competed in the relay and shot put. This was Fred's last year on the squad. FRANK STUMPF finished his second varsity year in the shot put. JIM MAHONEY for the second time competed in the high jump and high hurdles, and was good for points in both events. Jim will not return. CLARENCE COLLINS came up from the B's to run the high hurdles. This was the last year of competition for Clarence. CAPTAIN RALPH WOOD ran the high hurdles and relay. Ralph finished his last year in great style. GORDON FARRELL, another man who is small in stature, was entered in the relay and broad jump. He always placed. Gordon will not return. RUSSELL BAUGHN was Washington's second man in the broad jump. This was Russell's second and last year with the squad.

Four boys, Kenneth Bailey, Phil DeMarco, Henry Furushima and Robert James, worked as track managers. Three of the four will receive letters for their efforts. One will be awarded a Varsity monogram, another a B letter, and a third will receive a C "W." The selection which determines who will get which letter will not be decided until the end of the track season.



ROBERT BLACK, Washington high jumper, finished his last year in great style. He is always good for a first or second place, and will be missed next season. GEORGE PEEBLES is another high jumper who gained many points in his event. He was one of the three who vied for first honors on the General team. WILLIE SUMMO competed in the 100, 220, and relay. He is quite small in stature, but nevertheless ranked near the top among varsity men. CLARENCE SPRECHER was Washington's ace sprinter. He also competed in the 100, 220, and relay. This was Clarence's last year on the team. CHARLES WINBURN proved to be a consistent first-place winner in the pole vault. At the time of publication, Charles' best height was 12'9". Charles also graduates in June. NORMAN MOLYNEAUX was one of Washington's best 220 low hurdles. This is Norman's first year as a hurdler, and in his second meet he broke the school record. The squad will be sorry to lose him. DICK BRIAR is Washington's number two pole-vaulter. He is still inexperienced, but much is expected of him next season. STEVE ZAKIAN ran the quarter-mile for the second year, and was always good for a place. He will return. MURRAY WILSON ran his first year in the mile. He was another consistent point earner. GEORGE FAULKNER was Washington's biggest surprise. He came up from the B's to run the mile, and proved a first-place winner in every meet. George is lost through graduation. JAMES STERN was the first man in the 440. This was James' second and last year, and he was always good for a first or second place. NORMAN KINZER competed in the 880 and mile. Norman has one more season.

CLASS B TRACK

At the time the Continental went to press, the B squad had won one meet and lost one. The first league meet was lost to Jefferson by a score of 58 to 32. David Gay proved to be the outstanding athlete of the day by breaking the school record in the shot put by three feet.

The second meet was held on Hughes field against Polytechnic. The Washington lights were successful in defeating the Mechanics by a score of 60 to 30.

Coach Lester Heilman succeeded in developing some outstanding men such as Earl Ford, Eddie Morris, Jack Lowe, Chet Bullock, Ed Barnes, Dave Gay.

C TRACK

The C squad has won one meet and lost one. Jefferson overpowered the Washington babes, but the Generals managed to show Polytechnic what they could do by defeating them by a large score.

The outstanding men were Johnny Morgan, Tommy Kozaki, Malin Kilgore, Bud Malone, Harry Kozaki, and Tommy Osgood.

Lettermen are: Johnny Kilgore, Bud Malone, Tom Barfield, Harold Tolin, Byron Smith, Kenneth Sparrowk, Alex McDougall, Gilbert Marvin, Woodrow Wakatsuki, Tommy Osgood, Tommy Kozaki, William Ard, and Harry Kozaki.

G. A. A.
EXECUTIVE BOARD

The Executive Board of the G. A. A. is elected from the organization at large by popular vote. These girls, with the help of Mrs. Dorice Myers, head of the Girls' Physical Education Department, plan all the activities of the G. A. A.

Officers for the fall semester were: Florence Rice, president; Patricia Murphy, vice - president; Violet Johnson, secretary-treasurer; and Dorothybelle Hann, recording secretary.

Officers for the spring semester are: June Ferguson, president; Ethel McDonald, vice - president; Emily Wilson, secretary-treasurer; and Dorothy Bishop, recording secretary.

WASHINGTO WINNERS

The honorary organization the G. A. A., the Washingt Winners club is made up of t girls who have been award "W's" for their all-around abil in sports. The main purpose this group is to promote go sportsmanship and to bring ir closer contact the girls who ha earned letters.

The president for the fall sem ter was Ebba Lind, and for t spring semester Lois Schlap Miss Alice Z. Scott is the spons of the group.

McDonald, Dyer, Ferguson, Walker, Baker.

G. A. A.
ELL LEADERS

he main requirements for the leaders of the G. A. A. are rge amount of pep and a still er amount of interest in the anization. The girls elected to yell leaders in the fall were Dyer, June Ferguson, and Billie lker; however, because of the that Washington did not par-ate in any play days during semester, those yell leaders not have any actual service. thel McDonald and Susan er are the spring yell leaders.

SPRING
PORTS MANAGERS

lected by the G. A. A. mem- according to their ability and rest in their respective sports, managers are an important in the organization, as their es are to serve on the execu- board, to coach the girls, and arouse interest in the various rts.

he Spring managers were: en Bowlus and Frances Esch- volleyball; Verdee Herberger Maren Guest, baseball; Jerry nzman, tennis; and Susan er, swimming.

2ND ROW: Baker, Guest, Eschwig.
1ST ROW: Bowlus, Herberger.

SWIMMING

Coached by Miss Vivian Krasney, who was assisted in the fall by Anita Nass and in the spring by Susan Baker, the swimming team has had a successful year. The group which turned out for swimming this spring was the largest in the history of the club.

The girls who succeeded in earning their places on the team proved their all-around swimming ability in both form and speed. Diving and life-saving were also included in the varsity tests.

2ND ROW: Maltby, Pringle, Nass, Greenshields.
1ST ROW: Fischer, Baker, Tyler, Padghan.

TENNIS

Because tennis has been handi-apped through lack of courts, all ompetition has been in double ournaments.

Kate Sutton and Jerry Glanz-nan received the hundred points n the fall semester, and also came ut on the top of the ladder in he preliminary Spring play-off.

The managers for the Fall and pring semesters were Maxine hirey and Jerry Glanzman.

GIRLS' GOLF

During the fall semester, the Girls' Golf Club was organized to promote interest in learning how o play golf. Considering the ewness of the sport, the girls ave quite a large turnout. Gladys Burton is president this emester, and the club is spon-ored by Miss Marguerite Stuart.

GLANZMAN, SUTTON

4TH ROW: Dyer, Campbell, McCall, Judge, Wright, Pollock, Wilkins, Barlow, Tolle, Furrer.
3RD ROW: Roberts, Waugh, Benedict, Brogan, Masching, Harvey, Richardson, Jarvey, Jones.
2ND ROW: Llewellyn, Knox, M. Ellis, Weinberg, Clark, D. Ellis, Wheeler, Lane, Seibt.
IST ROW: Kelly, Anderson, Bruce, Burton, Stuart, Bullington, Cowl, Oster, Eaton.

FALL VOLLEYBALL

Through the efforts of Miss Nellie W. Robbins, G. A. A. coach, volleyball has been developed to a great extent during the last two semesters. She has encouraged the girls to play more scientifically, and now the volleyball courts are always the scene of good, fast games.

The winner of the fall volleyball tournament was an eleventh grade team captained by Ethel McDonald.

SPRING VOLLEYBALL

Volleyball is attracting the majority of the G. A. A. girls again this semester and sixteen teams are playing. The competition is keen, and as the Continental goes to press, the final tournament has not been played. The ninth grade girls especially are to be congratulated on their fine turnout for volleyball. The tournament which was run to decide which team would have its picture in the annual was won by an eleventh grade team captained by Ethel McDonald.

2ND ROW: Baker, Bishop, Kuhn, McArthur. 1ST ROW: McDonald, D. Hartranff, E. Hartranff, Ferguson.

BASEBALL

Ten teams are playing baseball this semester, of which three will be selected to go to play day. An eleventh grade team, captained by June Ferguson, won the preliminary tournament and the right to have its picture in the Continental. However, the tournament for points had not been conducted when the annual went to press.

BASKETBALL

With some of the keenest competition seen in some time, June Ferguson's eleventh grade basketball team won the tournament this fall. It was a toss-up between several teams all semester, but with a sudden spurt this team carried off the honors.

ROW: Arps, Bishop, Ferres, Risco, Kuhn, Pratt. IST ROW: Baker, Ferguson, D. Hartranff, E. Hartranff, cDonald.
OW: Beckham, E. Hartranff, Ferguson, D. Hartranff. IST ROW: Taylor, Kuhn, McDonald, Baker.

The star of the season was Upan Adam, drawback. Upan, who is of Scotch descent, walked into the stadium about the time when a rooter yelled, "Denny got that quarter-back." Rushing up to the ticket office, he demanded a refund. The Service squad serviced, and he was thrown for a twenty-five cent loss.

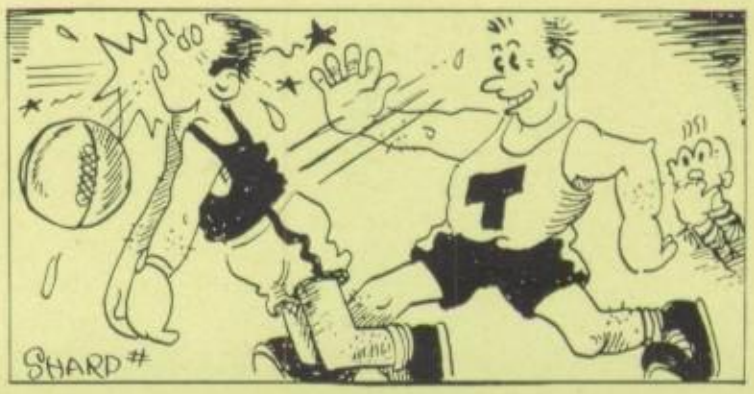
Second down, and twenty-five to go! Upan advances to the fifth vertabra of the gate guard. where he is dropped in his tracks by the left usher.

Third down, a quarter to go! Upan makes a pass at the guard, but it is incomplete.

Fourth down, two-bits to go! The guard completes a pass to Upan's jaw as the end comes up from the line.

BASKETBALL

One minute left to play, the score is 246 to 246; it is the championship game between the Tremont Snoopers and the Washington Privates. The ball is snapped, Append A. Citus, Washington star forward has the ball. The crowd is yelling for a touchdown. Append, very anxious to please, starts dribbling down the cage; he dodges the Snoopers one by one, until he has a clear field ahead of him. He shoots. It looks like a home run. It's a basket! The gun roars! The crowd roars! The Privates roar, as the referee chalks up two points for the Snoopers.



CROSS COUNTRY

Cross country running originated several years ago, when chicken thievery was at its peak. It seems that there was a farmer by the name of Cum A. Cross. He was so bothered by the thieves stealing his chickens, that he started running the bandits down. He grew so adept at running miles at a time after thieves, that he would challenge other people in distant races. Since Washington is so far out in the sticks, and so many farmers attend it, we usually turn out a good cross country team. Among the foremost of the General Chicken-thief-runner-afters are: Harry Leggs, and Iva Strawberry.

GOLF

According to Coach Hoss Neigh, the Washington Golf Team finished the season with a bang, a broken plate-glass window, and a raspberry. Mr. Neigh also stated that he and the six members of the team had a perfectly wonderful time at the canary rassel given in honor of the team which lost the most balls and broke the greatest number of clubs. Captain I. M. Perishing said that the greatest thrill of the season was during the big game at the eighteenth hole, when the scores were tied, and he sank a putt into a gopher hole.

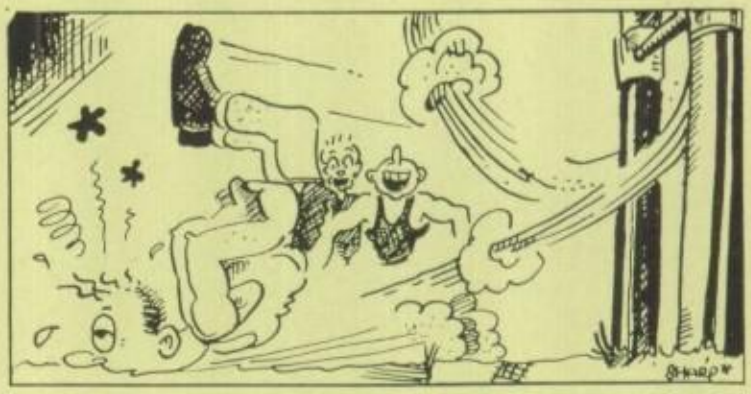
TENNIS

They used to be big time racketeers, now look what they are. A few years ago they were joyously heaving pineapples at each other. But since the "G" men caught up with them, they have been playing this new game, which the government has taught them. Now, instead of heaving pineapples, they bat a little ball back and forth over a net with the aid of a little instrument called a racket. It is upon this little ball that these racketeers vent their anger. The only thing these people have to remind them of the past is their title, which remains, "Racketeers."

GYM TEAM

Once upon a time, in the darkest forest of the South Pole, the Trazen forest, a group of little monkeys were playing in the trees and climbing vines and jumping logs.

It came to pass that one day a party of American explorers saw these antics, and captured the poor little Simians and shipped them to the United States. Today, at Washington High school, one will find the direct descendants of these anthropoids performing on ropes and benches, and tying themselves up into knots. The foremost of these apes are the direct descendants of Trazen himself, and the rest descended from Trazen's tribe. These relatives of the famous Trazen compose the Washington High school Gym Team.



TRACK

For a while it was feared that George Washington High school would be without a track team.

During vacation, the wilderness had absorbed the tracks of the Onion Specified Railroad. For a while a few energetic members of last year's team tried to organize a hitch-hikers team, but they didn't get the kick they ordinarily got from the brakemen, and this sport was abandoned.

Finally, by popular petition, a new railroad was built.

The track team had to overcome several obstacles, but on the whole, they rounded out a good season. One of the things that held up track practice and a couple of trains was Coach Les Mann, who believes nobody should work too hard. Another obstacle was the daily occurrence of trains on the track. This was overcome by field coach, Michael Carr, who protested to the railroad company. They promptly apologized, and discontinued the train service.

BASEBALL

This year saw the advent of the new rules of etiquette for baseball. These rules were tried out in the first game of the season. During the game, I. Hitchue, Pathloser leadoff man on first, started to steal second. As he started out, he spiked Brane Storm, General first baseman. The second baseman tried to block him while the shortstop covered the bag to take the throw and tag him out. The runner evaded the second baseman, and jumped feet first at the short-stop. The short-stop dodged the flying spikes and threw himself at the runner, knocking the breath out of him. In the meantime the batter hit the General catcher over the hands with his bat, so that he couldn't throw, the catcher retaliated by treading on the umpire's feet with his spikes and shoving his big mitt in his face, so that the umpire couldn't see the play. So the umpire punched the catcher in the ribs, called it a foul ball, and sent the batter back to first.

ACTIVITIES

CONTINENTAL

The Continental staff is a very select group, and is composed only of Senior A's who have attended school for twelve years, and have got by without learning to read or write.

Among these, the most illiterate person is Seymour Holtzman. He still talks with a baby accent! It is his proud boast that only his ability to polish apples into bright, alluring colors and then place them on his teacher's desk, kept him from failing every course he ever took.

When he learned that he was eligible for the Continental staff, he took a two-year course at Crank Wiggins Trade school to learn how to say: "When are you going to turn in your copy for the Humor section?"

The reason why the Continental came out a little later than was planned was that they had to get Seymour over the border before any of the students saw the annual.

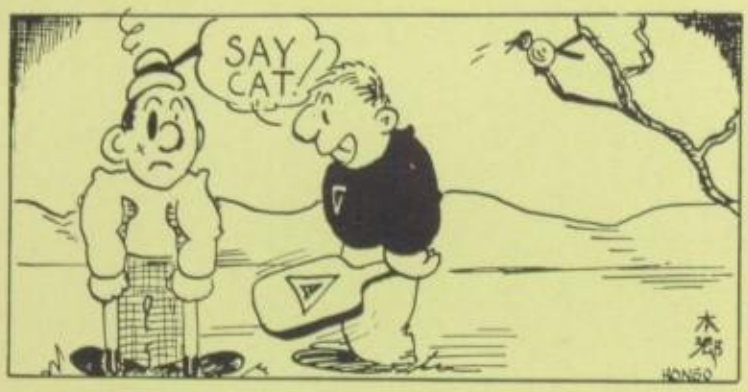
SURVEYOR

If you have ever read the Washington High school organ, the Surveyor, you can guess what kind of a staff it has.

In order to become a member of the staff, you must have been a member of at least three good Insane Asylums.

The photograph shows Sam Glassberg trying to get some copy in on time for the sport page. Beside him is Phil Heist, chief copy boy, tearing "Scoop" Levinson's hair because Mr. Hamilton wants the second page dummy immediately.

Not only do the members of the staff write news, but they also read proof, and if any story is found without mistakes, they insert some.



HI-Y

This organization was founded by Senator Adolph A. Dirtyplat in order to end the depression. It was named after him, "Hi-Y," because his first name was Adolph, and everybody wondered "y" he formed the club. The original plan was to establish the club through the entire nation, and have the whole population of the United States as members. To belong to this club, you must have a sweater, so orders would flow into knitting mills by the millions. The mills would employ more people and require a large amount of raw material. All the people that were not employed making the sweaters would then receive jobs raising sheep. Unfortunately, the Order of Cotton Growers hired lobbyists, and the measure was defeated in Congress.

KNIGHTS

School is conducted during the day time only. Therefore Washington Knights are very refreshing and popular. The knights have very many different orders, such as: A hamburger! Coffee and Rolls! A malted milk, etc. Of these, "Knights of the Shower" is the most popular. You must be very high in council to use soap with your shower. As none of the knights are very high in anything, they are generally called "Black Knights."

Although tradition says that Knights must wear tin underwear, these Knights are not very orthodox. Norm Molyneaux, for one, wears pink shorts trimmed with green daffodils.

LADIES

Upon first entering Washington High, one notices a group of girls wearing sweaters with an emblem on them. Imagine his surprise when he finds out that they are called Ladies. So the only difference between a girl and a lady is a sweater and an emblem.

The Ladies is an organization formed by the Knights to furnish themselves partners for the Knight's annual dance. "It so happened that a few years ago a Knight's jig was held, but, alas, there were not enough femmes present," orated Peg-Leg Pete, president of th Knights, "so we formed the Ladies Club, and since then we have always had an ample supply of them on hand."

SCHOLARSHIP

This is a society of "wise guys." The easiest way to enter this organization is to speak to the teacher of every subject just as she is calling off the grades to be recorded. When she comes to your name, speak to her in a low voice. The teacher, seeing your lips move, but unable to hear any sound, will think she is getting deaf, and will say "A-A-E-E-E." Then the recorder will chalk up an "A," and you will be eligible.

DRAMATICS

The students of Washington appreciated their dramatists so much that they raised some money by popular subscription to send them to study under O. U. Hamm, in the middle of the Arizona Desert.

The Senior drama class presented many choice productions during the term. The outstanding one was "Throwing Pains" which was proclaimed by everyone to be a "hit."

The cast got the Pains and the audience got to throw. Queensbury rules were used, and no hard vegetables or fruit was allowed.

LETTERMEN

The Lettermen's Club is a Penmanship Union. In order to enter, one must write twenty-five and one-quarter letters to people in Coxania whose name of the societ yon them, it was found that cles by the name of A. Van Tee Gohome. Then you must go through the alphabet writing letters to people who have Aunt Minnies. When you reach the letter "W," you are given a large piece of chenille, which yut cut out in the form of a paper doll. If it turns into a "W," then you are a full-fledged member of the Lettermen's Club.

ORCHESTRA

Beautiful Music?
Dangerous Topic!
It's something scaring,
The Orchestra!

Sheet music is not furnished the musicians; only lined paper coated with sugar is given to them. The orchestra tunes up and gets hot. Because of the heat, many house flies come, and are attracted by the sugar coated paper. They walk up and down the scale on the paper, and the musicians play the music that they create.

TIDDLY WINKS

This year's Tiddly Winks team was finished off in fine style.

The team tiddled and winked in good form in all of the meets.

The only difficulty they encountered was trying to keep Butch Armijo from winking at Jimmie Fullerton's girl friend.

The stars of the season were I. Winkle, who twiddled 13 out of four, and A. Holinone, who got five slaps out of six winks.

PRY TONS

The Pry-Tons were organized by I. Pry, a campus slants writer, in celebration of the first ton of dirt he had dug up for this infamous column.

Their original name was: Puny Protective People Peeling Plush Plums Union, or P.P.P.P.P.U.

When the sweaters were ordered, with the full name of the society on them, it was found that they would either have to vote some very fat people into the club, or change its name. So they called it "Pry-Tons" in honor of its founder.
